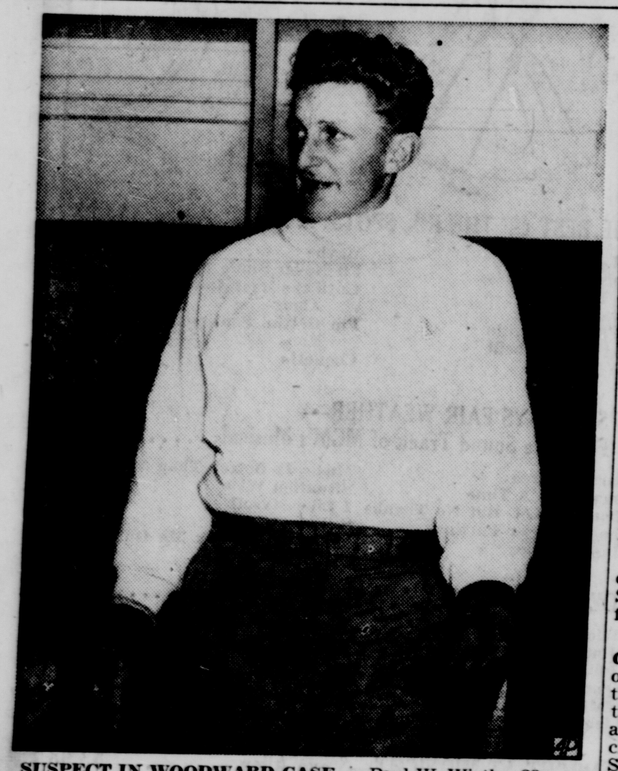
Probers Seek Clues Causing Plane Crash In Northern Colorado Claiming 44 Lives



SUSPECT IN WOODWARD CASE — Paul W. Wirths, 22-year-old German bricklayer, stands handcuffed in Huntington, N. Y., police headquarters, Nov. 1, where he was questioned in connection with slaying of sportsman William Woodward, Jr. Detective Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell said Wirths "is the same man who previously burglarized the Woodward bath house." He added police are trying to establish Wirths' movements at the Woodward Oyster Bay, N. Y., home area Oct. 29, when Mrs. Woodward fired a shotgun blast that killed her husband. (AP Photo).

Wife Can't Attend Woodward Funeral

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Socialite Mrs. Ann Woodward, wept uncontrollably today when told she must stay in a hospital and not attend the funeral of her millionaire sportsman husband, William.

The blonde former model has been confined for shock since she fatally shot her husband last Sunday in their home, thinking, she said, he was a prowler in the darkness.

From her bed, she ordered a blanket of flowers—in red and white, his racing colors—sent to the funeral. He owned the famous racehorse Nashua.

SHE INSTRUCTED also that his and her private nicknames be inscribed on a small ribbon attached to the bouquet.

Dr. John M. Prutting, her physician, told newsmen that she "asked me if there wasn't some way to get her to the funeral today.

"She asked me if there wasn't something I could give her to make it possible for her to go and I told her it wasn't possible."

Mrs. Woodward "had a bad reaction of intense grief when she asked me to have my secretary call a florist and send flowers for her," the doctor continued.

"SHE ORDERED a blanket of large, white chrysanthemums and red carnations," Prutting said. "She said they were his favorite colors and his racing colors. She also ordered their nicknames to be put on a small ribbon and discreetly written so that people wouldn't see them."

He said Mrs. Woodward asked him not to reveal the nicknames because they were "very personal."

She requested that a special hymn, a favorite of Woodward's at Groton school, be sung at the funeral.

THE DOCTOR SAID she saw some photographs of her husband yesterday and "reacted with intense grief."

"The breakdown at that point was very intense and I gave her an ataraxic," he said. He described ataraxic as "a substance to ease her grief."

Meanwhile, a prowler picked up by police reenacted visits he had paid to the Woodward estate at Oyster Bay on Long Island. Mrs. Woodward has told police it was these visits that made her nervous and upset and prompted her to shoot when she saw a shadow or heard a noise in the darkness.

POLICE TOOK Paul W. Wirths, a convicted burglar, to the sprawling Woodward home at dusk yesterday. They said he had admitted breaking into the

SLA Probe Criticized By Senator

No Indictments Yet, He Declares

State Senator John H. Cooke, (R), chairman of the Committee on Civil Service, today took exception to charges of State Investigation Commissioner J. Irwin Shapiro that the New York State Liquor Authority (SLA) was a "cesspool of corruption" from 1950 until early this year.

Senator Cooke of Alden, Erie county, representing the 55th Senatorial District for the past five years, said:

"IN TERMS OF BENEFICIAL public service, the success or failure of Mr. Shapiro's investigation of the State Liquor Authority will be measured most accurately by the number of criminal indictments returned. So far, there has been none, despite 10 months of frenzied activities on his part—mostly in the headlines.

"His probe covered the past five years and if there were any criminal wrongdonig, it is within the statute of limitations and indictments are possible, if justified by evidence."

In a report to Governor Averell Harriman, The Associated Press said, Shapiro calls former SLA Commissioner Arthur F. Robertson "an embezzler, a thief, a fraud and a fixer."

SHAPIRO SAYS only the "fixer" accusation applied to Robertson's activities as a member of the SLA, and the other allegations refer to his career long before his appointment by former Republican Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The report covers activities of the SLA during part of Dewey's administration before Harriman, a Democrat, took office last January 1.

Shapiro, an appointee of Harriman, submitted the report to Harriman Oct. 10 after an investigation during which 599 witnesses were examined.

ONLY THE New York city zone of the SLA has been investigated so far, Shapiro said.

Shapiro, calling Robertson's former post "one of the most sensitive positions in the state," said "it is crystal clear that Thomas E. Dewey's appointment of Robertson to public office on three separate occasions can only be described as a triple boner."

Shapiro's report said three former deputy SLA commissioners and several former investigators and auditors of the SLA were involved in "deals" to grant favors. It said some of

Rosendale Flood Group Will See Ives and Lehman

The steering committee of the Rosendale Flood Control Group will visit Goshen in a body Friday afternoon to seek personal consultations with Sens. Irving M. Ives and Herbert Lehman who will be in that city for hearings on proposed legislation for federal flood insurance.

The Flood Control Group, which was set up Monday night in a mass protest meeting of citizens of the Rosendale area, would like to have a good representation of citizens make the trip, feeling that the larger the group the stronger its appeal will be.

Citizens of the area who can make the trip have been asked to call the office of John Duffy, a member of the committee. Transportation will be provided for those who can make the trip.

Mr. Duffy told The Freeman the committee would try to describe to the senators the plight of the village and township and felt it would be able to "get the message across."

THE ROSENDALE GROUP will leave the village about 12:30 p. m. Friday. The hearings are scheduled for 2 p. m.

The committee is seeking relief of any type but is dedicated primarily to the principle of permanent flood control. It is felt that such control must come through federal aid and that the attack should be directed, therefore, in the direction of federal representatives and officials.

Mr. Duffy said the committee felt more could be accomplished by bringing the Rosendale situation to the attention of U. S. Senators and Congressmen, directly and vividly.

ISSUES INVOLVED in flood relief and control were discussed for several hours last night by the committee at an organizational meeting in Mr. Duffy's office.

It is the consensus of the community and its committee that, as Mr. Duffy puts it, "something will have to be done." He said the events of the past three months and the constant threat of new floods had "shattered the nerves of the people here."

Mr. Duffy, a former member of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, pointed out that in order to get Rondout creek cleared and deepened federal legislation would have to be passed—which will, of course, require time. Such legislation could allocate funds for permanent flood con-

14 Arraigned As November Court Opens

Fourteen defendants were arraigned at the opening session of the November term of County Court Tuesday afternoon before County Judge William A. Kelly. Only four of the defendants were represented by counsel and pleas entered. In all other cases counsel will be assigned by the court.

Judge Kelly announced that due to the very heavy criminal calendar he would take up criminal matters during the first two weeks of the term and begin civil matters on Nov. 14, a day calendar being made up for that date. Court usually opens on the first Monday of the month but although the court convened on the first Tuesday, a week ahead of its usual date, the term will still be a short one so far as trial dates are concerned since there are many holidays on which court cannot be held. This includes Election Day, Armistice Day and the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

THREE CASES were announced settled in making up the civil action day calendar. They are:

No. 34, Alex Levy against Sarantoes E. Matthews and another, negligence. Richter and Werbalowsky for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendants.

No. 73, Catherine Van Etten against Mary Ann Haeussler,

Candidates Are Listed

An official announcement from the Board of Elections of Ulster County, appearing today on page 18, lists candidates of three parties running in the city for election in November.

The list, published in accordance with the Election Law, gives the names of ward nominees, those running for mayor and alderman-at-large, also candidates designated for county judge, district attorney, county treasurer and coroner.

Political parties named are the Republican, Democrat and Liberal.

Payne (R.-Me.), left, Prescott Bush (R.-Conn.), center, and Herbert Lehman (D.-Lib.-N.Y.) talk before start of Nov. 1 session of Senate banking committee hearings on flood insurance in Washington, D. C. During the hearing, Bush urged the committee to get on with the business of flood insurance, as distinguished from "flood politics." Lehman said he's going to continue to bring pressure on the administration to submit specific recommendations. Payne, testifying from the witness chair, backed proposals for a limited, "experimental" insurance program. (AP Wirephoto).

Two Tillson Youths Shot on Halloween

A double blast from a 12-gauge shotgun splattered two youths with more than 30 birdshot on Halloween evening in front of the Fred J. Palmatier residence in the village of Tillson, it was reported today by Kingston state police.

THE TWO YOUTHS, both residents of Tillson, are Donald McEvoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. McEvoy, and Robert Van Keuren, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Keuren.

Young Van Keuren was taken to Benedictine Hospital where his condition was reported today as "good."

Dr. John A. Cooke Jr., Van Keuren's physician, said more than 30 birdshot had lodged in the young man's body, principally in the back and arms. Young McEvoy, who was struck by two of the shot, was treated by Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz.

Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, BCI, told The Freeman that the two youths were walking along the road with some other young men in their late teens at the time of shooting. The young men told him, he said, that Mr. Palmatier, 64, and his wife had come out on the front porch of their home and accused them of committing certain acts which had resulted in damage to their property.

ACCORDING to the youths, Mr. Palmatier then fired twice with a shotgun, the first shot going high and the second taking effect in McEvoy and Van Keuren.

Sgt. Reilly said Mr. Palmatier reported to him that he believed he was firing over their heads.

No arrests had been made this morning. The case is still under investigation. Assisting Sgt. Reilly in the case is Trooper Edward Shannon.

MR. PALMATIER, a well-known auctioneer, was employed by the state as a maintenance man until he suffered a severe illness about a year ago, it was reported. He is also a member of the fire commission for the Tillson District.

Dr. Cooke said young Van Keuren had been struck in the back, scalp and arms with at least 30 birdshot but that none had penetrated a vital cavity, the skull or abdomen.

MOST OF THE SHOT were buried in soft tissue, muscle or fat. This morning Dr. Cooke removed one pellet from over the left eye and one from a finger.

Charge Against Miron Withdrawn

New York, Nov. 2 (Special to The Freeman)—The National Labor Relations Board announced Tuesday that a charge of unfair labor practices, pending against a Kingston company, has been withdrawn.

The charge had been filed by Harold Garrison, a former employe of the Miron Building Products Company, Inc., of 60 Ferry street, Kingston. He claimed that the company had dismissed him in August because of his activities on behalf of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 445, AFL.

Garrison withdrew the charge following an investigation by an NLRB field examiner.

Mishap Is Second in That Area

Witnesses Give Varied Accounts

Longmont, Colo., Nov. 2 (AP)—Investigators sought possible causes of a United Air Lines plane crash which killed 44 persons as the grim task of removing bodies was completed today.

The four-engine DC68 airliner, reported by some to have exploded in flight, cracked up in a sugar beet field in windswept northern Colorado last night. The dead included 39 passengers, one an infant and five crew members.

IT WAS THE second such disaster for a UAL plane in this vicinity within a month.

An Air Lines spokesman declined to speculate on what happened to the New York-to-Seattle plane, explaining that accounts of witnesses varied widely. He said statements were being taken from all available.

"Some say it exploded in the air, others that it hit the ground and exploded," the UAL spokesman said. "It is difficult for us to say what took place. That probably will have to be determined by the Civil Aeronautics Board."

WHILE THE BOARD will have charge of the investigation, the Civil Aeronautics Authority (CAA) in Washington announced three of its top officials also were leaving for the scene. The CAA said they will try "to find out if any type of immediate remedial action is necessary" pending the outcome of the investigation.

The three officials are CAA Administrator Frederick B. Lee, W. H. Weeks, chief of CAA aircraft engineering division, and Ward Madsen, deputy director of CAA air carrier safety division.

The air line reported at 8 a. m. (MST) that all 44 bodies had been taken to funeral homes at Greeley, 17 miles northeast of the crash site.

ALTHOUGH THERE was snow at higher elevations, the ground was clear here. Mud in a freshly plowed field into which part of the wreckage was scattered gave some difficulty.

The operation was being carried out in bitter weather. Reports from the scene placed the temperature at slightly below 20 degrees. At the same hour the reading was 18 in Denver, 32 miles south.

A NUMBER of United's flight engineers are on strike over job security, but a spokesman for the line in New York said there was no connection between the strike and the crash.

"By all means, no," he added.

He said that in place of a regular flight engineer on the crashed plane was a pilot who

Sub-Structure Is To Be Almost Done in Month

Sub-structure work on the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, with the exception of an anchor pier on the east side of the Hudson, is expected to be finished in a month, Jess Comer, project manager for the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. of New York, contractor, said today.

All west-side piers have been completed and steelwork of the super-structure is now extending toward the first river pier.

A report by the New York State Bridge Authority recently indicated that steel for the span was being fabricated on schedule. Work is expected to continue over the river as long as weather permits.

All of the eight river piers are expected to be finished this month and everything on the other side will be completed except Pier 22, the east-side anchor pier.

Pier 14 is the first river pier on the west side and steelwork is progressing toward that from Pier 13. The Harris Structural Steel Co., of New York is contractor for the super-structure.

Electrical work, the building and finishing of approach roads and connecting interchanges and other minor construction are on schedule for completion before opening of the span to traffic in November, 1956.

Executive Secretary John Warren listed the following division totals to date:

Industry, $17,833; advance gift, $11,662; commercial, $5,467; professional and health, $4,006; clubs and organizations, $1,201; government and education, $1,984, and residential, $381.

Stress on Moral Values Needed, Says Dr. Sockman

Speaking Tuesday night to a crowded Crystal Room at the Governor Clinton Hotel, the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of Christ Church, Methodist of New York city said, "It is hard to think of danger in the world. This summer I felt as I traveled through Europe that the climate of international relations had improved despite the Soviet smiles at Geneva. Apparently we are enjoying a breathing spell. The question is: Can we turn this breather to the achievements of peace?"

Dr. Sockman quoted Joseph Wood Krutch as saying that we cannot go on just perfecting destructive forces. He added "We have already given too much attention to invention . . . can we give value to the control of our inventive genius?"

"We get aroused by the shadow of evil. Can we rouse ourselves to the root causes of evil?" Then he quoted Lord Moulton's saying that we divide the area of human conduct into 1—) the sector of conduct that cannot be regulated; 2—) the sector we can, but do not regulate. He added that we must concern ourselves with the inner sanctions of moral conduct.

"Democracy itself is at stake," said the clergyman. "We must effect a control of human conduct that appeals to the mind. This is the appeal that youth will acknowledge. We must teach truth to free minds so that it is a community possession. That is the best national defense against communism. I do not fear bombardment of an enemy, but I do see the danger of the invasion of ideas of a low moral caliber.

"We must exercise the controls of human conduct so that the moral values are seen in a world setting. We need a prophetic imagination like Jesus had . . . we need this more than we need information across national and cultural boundaries.

"Christianity at work in the community church is effective use of the controls of human conduct."

October Rainfall Heaviest Of Any Month Recorded Here

October's rainfall of 11.81 inches, most of which came in the deluging downpour of one weekend, was the heaviest for any month in the history of local weather records, the city engineer's office reported today.

The flood rains from Oct. 14 to 18, came after a spring and summer of subnormal rains, and contributed 7.76 inches to the record-breaking total. This was followed by another 2.35 inches on Oct. 29 and 30 when area streams again threatened to swell over their banks.

Next heaviest rainfall for a single month locally was September, 1938 when 10.17 inches was recorded. That was a year in which the entire northeastern region of the nation was swept by a damaging hurricane.

Last September's rainfall totalled only 2.28 inches, about an inch below normal and the summer months before that were far below average.

MR. PALMATIER, a well-known auctioneer, was employed by the state as a maintenance man until he suffered a severe illness about a year ago, it was reported. He is also a member of the fire commission for the Tillson District.

Dr. Cooke said young Van Keuren had been struck in the back, scalp and arms with at least 30 birdshot but that none had penetrated a vital cavity, the skull or abdomen.

MOST OF THE SHOT were buried in soft tissue, muscle or fat. This morning Dr. Cooke removed one pellet from over the left eye and one from a finger.

Charge Against Miron Withdrawn

New York, Nov. 2 (Special to The Freeman)—The National Labor Relations Board announced Tuesday that a charge of unfair labor practices, pending against a Kingston company, has been withdrawn.

The charge had been filed by Harold Garrison, a former employe of the Miron Building Products Company, Inc., of 60 Ferry street, Kingston. He claimed that the company had dismissed him in August because of his activities on behalf of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 445, AFL.

Garrison withdrew the charge following an investigation by an NLRB field examiner.

Mishap Is Second in That Area

Witnesses Give Varied Accounts

Longmont, Colo., Nov. 2 (AP)—Investigators sought possible causes of a United Air Lines plane crash which killed 44 persons as the grim task of removing bodies was completed today.

The four-engine DC68 airliner, reported by some to have exploded in flight, cracked up in a sugar beet field in windswept northern Colorado last night. The dead included 39 passengers, one an infant and five crew members.

IT WAS THE second such disaster for a UAL plane in this vicinity within a month.

An Air Lines spokesman declined to speculate on what happened to the New York-to-Seattle plane, explaining that accounts of witnesses varied widely. He said statements were being taken from all available.

"Some say it exploded in the air, others that it hit the ground and exploded," the UAL spokesman said. "It is difficult for us to say what took place. That probably will have to be determined by the Civil Aeronautics Board."

WHILE THE BOARD will have charge of the investigation, the Civil Aeronautics Authority (CAA) in Washington announced three of its top officials also were leaving for the scene. The CAA said they will try "to find out if any type of immediate remedial action is necessary" pending the outcome of the investigation.

The three officials are CAA Administrator Frederick B. Lee, W. H. Weeks, chief of CAA aircraft engineering division, and Ward Madsen, deputy director of CAA air carrier safety division.

The air line reported at 8 a. m. (MST) that all 44 bodies had been taken to funeral homes at Greeley, 17 miles northeast of the crash site.

ALTHOUGH THERE was snow at higher elevations, the ground was clear here. Mud in a freshly plowed field into which part of the wreckage was scattered gave some difficulty.

The operation was being carried out in bitter weather. Reports from the scene placed the temperature at slightly below 20 degrees. At the same hour the reading was 18 in Denver, 32 miles south.

A NUMBER of United's flight engineers are on strike over job security, but a spokesman for the line in New York said there was no connection between the strike and the crash.

"By all means, no," he added. He said that in place of a regular flight engineer on the crashed plane was a pilot who

Sub-Structure Is To Be Almost Done in Month

Sub-structure work on the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, with the exception of an anchor pier on the east side of the Hudson, is expected to be finished in a month, Jess Comer, project manager for the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. of New York, contractor, said today.

All west-side piers have been completed and steelwork of the super-structure is now extending toward the first river pier.

A report by the New York State Bridge Authority recently indicated that steel for the span was being fabricated on schedule. Work is expected to continue over the river as long as weather permits.

All of the eight river piers are expected to be finished this month and everything on the other side will be completed except Pier 22, the east-side anchor pier.

Pier 14 is the first river pier on the west side and steelwork is progressing toward that from Pier 13. The Harris Structural Steel Co., of New York is contractor for the super-structure.

Electrical work, the building and finishing of approach roads and connecting interchanges and other minor construction are on schedule for completion before opening of the span to traffic in November, 1956.

Chest Pledges $42,534

Pledges totaling $42,534 had been received in the Kingston Area Community Chest's Red Feather drive as of the close of business yesterday. The goal is $100,270.

Executive Secretary John Warren listed the following division totals to date:

Industry, $17,833; advance gift, $11,662; commercial, $5,467; professional and health, $4,006; clubs and organizations, $1,201; government and education, $1,984, and residential, $381.

Stress on Moral Values Needed, Says Dr. Sockman

Speaking Tuesday night to a crowded Crystal Room at the Governor Clinton Hotel, the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of Christ Church, Methodist of New York city said, "It is hard to think of danger in the world. This summer I felt as I traveled through Europe that the climate of international relations had improved despite the Soviet smiles at Geneva. Apparently we are enjoying a breathing spell. The question is: Can we turn this breather to the achievements of peace?"

Dr. Sockman quoted Joseph Wood Krutch as saying that we cannot go on just perfecting destructive forces. He added "We have already given too much attention to invention . . . can we give value to the control of our inventive genius?"

"We get aroused by the shadow of evil. Can we rouse ourselves to the root causes of evil?" Then he quoted Lord Moulton's saying that we divide the area of human conduct into 1—) the sector of conduct that cannot be regulated; 2—) the sector we can, but do not regulate. He added that we must concern ourselves with the inner sanctions of moral conduct.

"Democracy itself is at stake," said the clergyman. "We must effect a control of human conduct that appeals to the mind. This is the appeal that youth will acknowledge. We must teach truth to free minds so that it is a community possession. That is the best national defense against communism. I do not fear bombardment of an enemy, but I do see the danger of the invasion of ideas of a low moral caliber.

"We must exercise the controls of human conduct so that the moral values are seen in a world setting. We need a prophetic imagination like Jesus had . . . we need this more than we need information across national and cultural boundaries.

"Christianity at work in the community church is effective use of the controls of human conduct."

Dr. Sockman began his minis-

Forensic Congress Held at Saugerties

Saugerties, Nov. 2 — Eleven schools from upstate New York attended the fall National Forensic Student Congress at Saugerties on Saturday.

Poughkeepsie, who had the largest delegation dominated the elective posts by holding the presiding offices in both house and senate.

Jamestown who came the greatest distance, lost top laurels to Hudson who won three of the four medals awarded by coaches for excellence in parliamentary debate.

Kingston's John Snyder scored seven points while Lynne Fruisen and Nancy Plank of Catskill scored two and four points respectively.

Outstanding Sawyer honors were garnered by President James Erceg with 10 followed by Roger Dordick with eight; James Sandner, seven; Anthony Francello, six; Joan Cotich, five and Eugene Lang, four.

Elsewhere the Saugerties delegation seeking to overhaul Jeffersonville, Jamestown and Liberty in the state rankings improved their position to eighth in the state. The rankings are based on cumulative participating in speech activities.

Each year the top team receives a plaque as outstanding chapter and starts over in last place. Saugerties as a newcomer started in the 20th spot last January. At Poughkeepsie in the fall speech festival the top honors for the local speakers was captured by James Armstrong with nine. Margaret Morgan scored five; Kathleen Aiello, seven; Janet Nickerson, eight and Rosemary Martin, eight.

Director of the congress, Malcolm A. Bumb was the club sponsor.

Forensic Congress Held at Saugerties

Saugerties, Nov. 2 — Eleven schools from upstate New York attended the fall National Forensic Student Congress at Saugerties on Saturday.

Poughkeepsie, who had the largest delegation dominated the elective posts by holding the presiding offices in both house and senate.

Jamestown who came the greatest distance, lost top laurels to Hudson who won three of the four medals awarded by coaches for excellence in parliamentary debate.

Kingston's John Snyder scored seven points while Lynne Fruisen and Nancy Plank of Catskill scored two and four points respectively.

Outstanding Sawyer honors were garnered by President James Erceg with 10 followed by Roger Dordick with eight; James Sandner, seven; Anthony Francello, six; Joan Cotich, five and Eugene Lang, four.

Elsewhere the Saugerties delegation seeking to overhaul Jeffersonville, Jamestown and Liberty in the state rankings improved their position to eighth in the state. The rankings are based on cumulative participating in speech activities.

Each year the top team receives a plaque as outstanding chapter and starts over in last place. Saugerties as a newcomer started in the 20th spot last January. At Poughkeepsie in the fall speech festival the top honors for the local speakers was captured by James Armstrong with nine. Margaret Morgan scored five; Kathleen Aiello, seven; Janet Nickerson, eight and Rosemary Martin, eight.

Director of the congress, Malcolm A. Bumb was the club sponsor.

GOOD MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

The administration headed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang has made a sound contribution to better government of this fast-growing and expanding community. Many progressive steps have been taken and others are in progress for the betterment of the people of the city and those of the outlying communities who daily visit Kingston.

Working with Mayor Stang for the past 22 months was Joseph Kelly, a capable alderman-at-large, and a Common Council with a Republican majority. The Common Council conducted the city's business efficiently and publicly and the residents were given an opportunity to be heard on any subject of public interest. This is good municipal government.

John J. Schwenk, a well and favorably known public servant, is the Republican candidate to succeed Mr. Kelly, who declined re-nomination upon his promotion to city editor of The Freeman. Mr. Schwenk previously presided over the Common Council and he has been a member of the Board of Public Works and the Kingston Water Board. His knowledge of municipal affairs and his devotion to civic duties eminently qualify him for this important post.

In the various wards of the city are Republican candidates for aldermen who as teammates of Mayor Stang will back up his constructive program.

We do not believe that the people of this community want to swap this good government program.

The opportunity to continue men in office who will carry on and enlarge this successful program will be given the electorate at the general election next Tuesday.

NEW TOP MARINE

The new commandant of the United States Marine Corps is Lieutenant General Randolph McCall Pate. He succeeds General Lemuel C. Shepherd.

General Pate is an old Marine campaigner. He is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and his service with the Marine Corps includes tours of duty in China, Santo Domingo and Hawaii. He helped to plan the first offensive of World War II, the Marine landing on Tulagi and Guadalcanal. He wears the Legion of Merit for his role in planning the landings on Peleliu, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

In every war since the battle for Independence the Marines have played an important part. Because they are a small unit compared with the Navy and Army they have been able to adapt quickly to the ever changing techniques of modern warfare.

The record of the Marines is a proud one. Its officer corps is responsible for keeping the men of the corps proud of the uniform they wear. It is reassuring to know that the traditions of the corps and its leadership are in the capable hands of a man with the stature and experience of General Pate.

Keeping busy at what you're doing is the surest way to avoid worrying about never getting around to doing things you—or your wife—think you ought to be doing.

NEW HEIGHTS ACHIEVED

Unless the chimneys at General Motors' plants suddenly grow cold, this mammoth automaker will establish in 1955 the first one-billion-dollar net profit in America's business history.

For the first three quarters of the year the company made a net of 913 million dollars, already greater than its previous year-long total of 834 million achieved in 1950. So it can hardly miss.

The significance of this is not simply the evident well-being of General Motors, or even of the motor industry. What it conveys is the health and, more importantly, the growth of the whole United States.

In the pinched days of the 1930's, when we talked of a limited and "maturing" economy, the man who forecast a billion-dollar profit for any company would have been laughed off.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

QUALIFIED PATRIOTS

According to "The Harvard Crimson," President Nathan M. Pusey of that University introduced a new phrase into our language, namely, "unqualified protectors of American traditions." What kind of a citizen is qualified to be a patriot and what kind of a citizen is not so qualified? I looked through the Constitution and could not find any designated qualifications except age, nativity or the length of time in this country and intent of loyalty.

Apparently the current President of Harvard seeks to establish an elite, an intellectual elite whose qualifications would make them warders of our civic virtue. For he also said:

"It is the peculiar mission of the University and of all professions which have their roots within the University, to believe in principle, yes—but also to have the skill, the knowledge, and the will to work for increased understanding."

Granted that there are advantages in attending universities, these schools have no monopoly on understanding of or adherence to principle and never have had. The knowledge of history does give one a basis for a better understanding of current events, but a Ph.D. gives one no monopoly on such understanding. Otherwise such a figure in American history as Benjamin Franklin would not have been our most profound philosopher or Thomas Edison, our greatest physical engineer, or Henry Ford, the first, of course, our greatest manufacturer. These men never went to Harvard or any other university but they made a grand job of their lives and surely were protectors of the American tradition. In fact, Franklin may be regarded as the father of American pragmatism.

How does one qualify to be a protector of his country's traditions? Is it by going to a school where American history is not a compulsory course? How do children learn about their country's greatness? By osmosis? Does Mr. Pusey wish us to believe that the farmer, from whose watch-chain hangs no Phi Beta Kappa key, is less qualified to love his native land and defend and protect its traditions than a professor who takes the Fifth Amendment as a plea against answering whether he was ever a spy for a foreign country? Or is the worker at a machine, his fingers dipped in oil, less qualified than a book-fed pundit whose ink blisters the very paper upon which he writes debunking falsehoods concerning all that is noble?

President Pusey of Harvard used this new phrase in a defense of the Fund for the Republic, criticism of which he attributes to "misguided zeal where violence is done to such central articles in our tradition as respect for evidence and fair play."

Of course, this was Dr. Pusey's opinion a month or so ago. He does not offer a bill of particulars which is a characteristic of scholarship. Today, it could be different because the Ford people are no longer happy about the Fund for the Republic and he must by now know that much is being done to rid the Ford name of the association. In fact, we who write for newspapers have, at times, been requested to disassociate the name Ford from the Fund.

The resignation of Arthur Dean from the Fund could not have been a surprise and was not, as the Fund people try to say, over personalities but did have to do with policy. Dean said so. And one of the policies is that those who manage the Fund should have some qualifications to defend American traditions. In the opinion of some Americans, Paul Hoffman, Robert Hutchins and "Ping" Ferry are not the right guys for that job, although others may think that they are. At any rate, it is a matter for controversy. If saying so is "personalities," then the whole fight is psychological and not political.

President Pusey surely pulled a boner when he used the phrase, as "The Harvard Crimson" reported, "well-meaning but unqualified protectors of American traditions," because we shall have to ask him whether Alger Hiss, Lee Pressman, Freddy Field, graduates of Harvard, and other Harvard men who refused to be forthright about their ideas and activities, are "qualified" protectors of American traditions.

It is a specious argument one way or the other and really means too little, but when a President of so noble an institution descends to intellectual snobbishness, he should be called.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

"PHYSICIAN, EXPLAIN THYSELF"

"Every physician has faced the frustrating experience of seeing his best professional advice ignored by his patients. This is perhaps especially true in nutritional work, where 'lapses' or noncooperation are almost par for the course among patients with obesity, peptic ulcer, gall bladder disease, or high blood pressure. The accumulated knowledge of countless investigators is condensed into our recommendations and prohibitions; yet how frequently do we find obvious and flagrant violations of these well-meaning admonitions. Why?"

I am quoting from an editorial in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition which goes on to point out that no doubt many reasons are involved for failure to follow the physician's advice but that one cause (recognized in theory but often forgotten in fact) is the physician's own fault. His patients do not understand him.

A recent study made by a nutritionist on the Florida State Board of Health revealed this fact. A list of twenty commonly used words was presented to 100 women attending pregnancy clinics in various parts of the state. Ages ranged from 15 to 46, witht he average being 26 years. Half had elementary school education and half had some high-school experience. About half were from rural areas. After the patients had been put at ease, the meaning of the words were asked and the word was used in a sentence. Any reasonable definition was accepted and no time limit was imposed. Here are the startling results.

While 90 per cent of the women had some understanding of such words as pregnancy, constipation, margarine, starches, and diet, fewer than 20 per cent understood anemia, rickets, hemoglobin, enriched, or protein. Somewhat more than half knew the meaning of well-nourished, vitamins, dried milk, yellow vegetables, lean meat and egg yolk. But less than half could explain nutrition, maternity, citrus fruits or balanced diet.

On the average, only 12 words of the 20 were understood. Not one patient understood every word of the twenty mentioned above. Only 17 knew the meaning of 16 or more terms. Those with some high school training could comprehend an average of 13.4 words, those with elementary schooling only 10.4.

Among the interesting sidelights to this survey were: one out of four did not know which part of the egg is called "yolk"; "vitamins" often meant to them some kind of pills—not related to food or nutrition; anemia was often confused with enema.

This means that there is need for a constant awareness of the words used by physician, nurse, dietitian or any health worker. Literature such as diet lists should be very simply written and explained verbally when distributed.

Too often the patient will nod knowingly rather than say he does not understand and I will wager we have all been guilty of doing just this same thing about one subject or another during our lifetime. We must be very sure when given directions by our physician that we understand exactly what he means and if we do not, ask him to explain more fully.

"—But Have You Seen This Snapshot of My Boy?"

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva—During the so-called summit conference the Manchester Guardian, of England, pulled supercilious sneers at President Eisenhower for riding about Geneva attended by the normal escort of presidential flycops while the jovial Muscovites rode in lowneck motors blowing kisses to the apathetic Swiss who loyally live up to their motto that peace hath her profiteers no less great than wars.

The Guardian is a friendly paper, rather like a member of our own family in the candor of its contempt for our sensibilities. The implication to me was that the Guardian thought Ike showed a yellow streak. The Russians took advantage of this suggestion, voiced also by others, and flaunted their courage by waving to casual traffic which could not have shown less interest. All this put Ike and the United States at such disadvantage that American bon vivants hit upon the notion of setting him down afoot for a stroll in the manner of Harry Truman on his visits to the Waldorf Tower.

For a special flourish and challenge to the Guardian Ike plunged into a Mom and Pop store, where toys were sold, in an amiable variation of the ancient rite of baby kissing. Thus the score was brought to better than even for our side. There were, you may remember, indomitable pessimists who insisted that the Russian grins were mere muscular exercises of no political significance and that whoever hoped otherwise ought to be committed. Senator Joe McCarthy and Senator Bill Jenner, of Indiana, both repeatedly and heatedly flung misgivings at their colleagues but were suppressed by a cabal of our journalism which, with strange unanimity, quarantined such doubts.

Time sped, according to custom, and Wednesday of last week arrived. So did Mr. Dulles and retinue and the foreign ministers of Russia, Britain, and France with their supporting casts. They washed up and at four in the afternoon whirled into the grand courtyard of the Palace of Nations. But now the sunshine of Ike's smile and of the summer on Lake Geneva were wanting.

Journalists with elaborate credentials, already certified by complex professional political social tests were herded over a paper chase from the near end of this vast edifice to the extreme far corner. There they were at last confronted by a heavy glass door guarded by robust Swiss detectives who let them pass one by one for a last inspection of the press card bearing the suspect's photograph.

The guard took hasty relish in nodding yes that mine was a fine likeness and passed me along for the body frisk. I have seen this in police stations but never before have I seen journalists put to the process. The accused must hald still and raise his arms. The cop then runs his hands up and down the subject's back, pats him under the arms for knives or holsters, and finally gives him a good going over with both hands down to the ankles. Fortunately I had left my equalizer at the hotel and so got by into the Grand Court to join a certified harmless band of 60 journalists, broadcasters and photographers, awaiting their excellencies, held back by traffic cops and iron railings.

A lady journalist was next behind me and a female flick gave her the works. She had to open her purse, the size of a satchel, open her short fur jacket and submit to familiarities. Finally, with a half triumphant "ha," the female cop discovered in the pocket of the jacket an object which might have been an old-fashioned bootlegger's pineapple or hand grenade but proved to be a scrawny green pear.

An hour dragged past. It is cold here and it was hardly worth the hardship to wait, yet one does throw good moments after bad had at last an American limousine drove up with an elegant swoop and discharged John Foster Dulles and three or four ladies of inoffensive mien. There were a series of alarms, seemingly arranged to confuse assassins, after Dulles, Macmillan, of Britain, and many others had waved with excellent facsimiles of Eisenhower's grin.

A great black funeral hack slewed to a stop at the head of a procession of many such cars. It bore the hammer and sickle on the red field. Masses of meat billowed out and surrounded the car. This we thought was the pilot car, Molotov doubtless was in one of several others behind. It was a sort of shell game. To draw a bead on Molotov a gunman or bombcaster would have to guess right or work fast. To our surprise then, as planned, Molotov emerged last from the first car. He squirmed out feet first like a worm out of a nut, squared his rumpled hat and scurried toward the palace door. The photographers groaned and yelped at him to hold still and throw them a smile. Molotov turned back two steps, he puckered his features in a wrinkled imitation of a withered quince. Normalcy was here again.

'Mystery' of Flying Saucer Is Officially Solved Now

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 2 — The mystery of the flying saucers—it really never was a mystery except in an official sense—has been solved officially at last.

It turns out that the American people had the truth all the time—they did see flying objects in the air shaped like saucers. But for official reasons, mostly related to security, it was apparently decided never to admit that there were objects of such shape — planes or missiles — which could rise vertically.

The key to the misunderstanding is in one word, "conventional." From the start of the stories, the Air Force insisted that observers were engaged in a "misinterpretation of various conventional objects."

Everything that is on the drawing boards or in the test period could be called "conventional." Certainly when jet planes first whizzed across the skies they were unusual to the public but in the technical language used in official statements they could be termed just "conventional" airplanes, if for security reasons it was desired to regard them as such.

It is interesting to go back five years and compare what the Air Force and Defense Department said then, with what is being said officially now. There is indeed a significant similarity and the original thesis is maintained. Here is what the Air Force said a few days ago in an official statement:

"WE ARE NOW entering a period of aviation technology in which aircraft of unusual configuration and flight characteristics will begin to appear.

"The Air Force and the other armed services have under development several vertical-rising, high-performance aircraft, and as early as last year, a propeller-driven vertical-rising aircraft was flown. The Air Force will fly the first jet-powered vertical-rising airplane in a matter of days. We have another project under contract with Avro, Ltd. of Canada, which could result in disc-shaped aircraft. . . ."

Everybody familiar with aviation knows that it takes years of testing of new models before a contract is let or an announcement is made that a plane will be formally exhibited to the public.

The Air Force now says that its own study of the reports about "flying saucers" shows that "all the unidentified aerial objects could have been explained if more complete observational data had been available" and that aircraft, balloons and shooting stars and missiles of various kinds undoubtedly accounted for the strange things people saw or thought they saw. It is officially admitted that a fifth of the reports involved aircraft of some kind.

BUT IT IS INTERESTING to go back to an article in "U. S. News & World Report" for April 7, 1950, which gave the first comprehensive explanation of the "flying saucers." In that issue models of "convertiplanes" and combinations of helicopters and conventional aircraft were described and pictures printed of those models which show a close similarity of the planned Air Force "convertiplanes" of 1955. The 1950 magazine article said:

"The first U. S. model designed by Charles H. Zimmerman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was elliptical in shape, powered by two piston engines and driven by twin propellers. It had a maximum speed between 400 and 500 miles an hour.

"More important, it could rise almost vertically and its minimum speed for landing was only about 35 miles an hour, a great advantage in military and naval aircraft. And it was far more maneuverable than conventional military planes."

WHAT HAPPENED to this early model? The same magazine report in 1950 says:

"It was purchased by the Navy after the original model was tested in 1942. The first full-sized aircraft, built by Chance-Vought, was thoroughly tested by Navy engineers. Then a statement was released that this project had been dropped. Early experimenting with 'saucers' centered in the Navy."

This correspondent on April 6, 1950, published extracts from a memorandum furnished him by members of the staff of "U. S. News & World Report" who investigated the stories of "flying saucers." It read in part as follows:

"The Air Force has received statements from hundreds of people in more than 300 cases in which flying saucers were believed to have been seen. At least a dozen of these cases involved thoroughly competent witnesses who had a clear view of the saucer aircraft. They are Air Force flyers who chased saucers, commercial pilots who had a good look at the circular aircraft, high ranking Army officers who saw one over Fort Knox, air technicians at Wright Field, balloon experts who tracked one near White Sands, New Mexico . . .

"THE SAUCERS observed traveled several hundred miles an hour and often against the wind, eliminating the possibility of weather balloons. They maneuvered and even rose vertically, eliminating meteors. They were often seen by dozens or even hundreds of people at once, so that hysteria is not a likely answer. . . .

"Evidence clearly points to a project within the United States. It is also obviously an expensive one on which millions probably have been sunk in research. That indicates a government project, one done with great secrecy."

Experimentation in new types of aircraft has been going on since 1945. Some are convertiplanes, some circular, some resembling helicopters, and some still on the "secret" list. Among those revealed publicly, the McDonnell Aircraft Company of St. Louis, the Bell Aviation Company at Fort Worth, Texas, and the Convair Company on the West Coast, all have characteristics that were reported originally in the "flying saucer" stories. More than a dozen other aircraft companies are developing some new types of planes and the testing areas coincide with the places where early reports came on flying saucers.

Now the "secret" is out. At least it is officially admitted that "jet-powered vertical-rising, high-performance" aircraft are here from now on. Nobody officially is saying how and where they were developed and tested and during what period of time.

Smokers on Ice

Helena, Mont. (AP) — Montana University inherited 300 iceboxes with a housing project and things got hot for several persons. The residents found it cheaper to use electric refrigeration and the boxes were junked. Montana law required junked iceboxes to be stripped of locks and catches. Parents got so hot about the boxes on the junk heap that MU President Carl McFarland posted a 24-hour hour guard over them. The problem melted away after the iceboxes were offered free to all takers. Within a couple days they were carted away. Hunters and fishermen wanted them to convert into meat smokers. Do-it-yourself addicts liked them for tool boxes.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—In the desperate effort to find new outlets for the huge, 23-million bale, two-year surplus supply of American-grown cotton the U. S. government is now stuck with, research laboratories are turning out a whole dry-goods store full of new textiles.

Some of them will do tricks that cotton cloth never did before. Together, they offer a new multimillion-dollar market.

Modeled by a half-dozen good-looking government gal secretaries, a collection of these new fashions in farm products was shown recently at the Department of Agriculture's Beltsville, Md., Experiment Station.

Only a few of the new products are the result of government research. Most are creations of the textile mills. Some are so new they are not yet on the market.

ONE OF THESE was a wrinkle-resistant cotton. Wad it up in a handbag. Take it out at the end of a journey. Shake it out and it's ready to wear, fresh and crisp without ironing.

Another of the new products, almost equally sensational, is a new cotton cloth that looks, feels and launders like linen, but costs only a fourth as much. This one was developed by the Department of Agriculture's New Orleans cotton products research laboratory.

The new cotton linen is made from short staple cotton which is a particular drug on the market. Just to show that it can be done, this fabric has even been made from mill floor sweepings.

Another New Orleans laboratory product is a water-resistant cotton, with its threads 25 per cent closer together and tighter than ordinary weaves. This cloth is also being used for tents, tarpaulins and baseball diamond rain covers.

A NONBURNING COTTON TWILL offers great possibilities for army uniforms and tents. The cloth will char as long as it is in contact with flame. Remove the flame and the blackened cloth remains intact.

This new fabric offers great possibilities in lighter weights for sheets and pillow cases. It's a protection for people who fall asleep while smoking in bed.

The real knockout of the Beltsville show was a bathing suit made out of one and a half cotton print fertilizer bags.

The trick of making cotton dresses out of feed bags printed in gay patterns is now old stuff to most farm women. Fertilizer bags could never be used for this purpose because an acid in the fertilizer ate up the fabric.

But now a cotton cloth has been developed which resists the acid. Fertilizer manufacturers have come up with a line of over 300 bright prints for their bags. Four to six 100-pound bags make a dress.

NOT ALL THE RESEARCH is in pure cotton textiles. Cotton is finding increasing use in blends. One fabric, ramie, has been developed from China grass. It has a long fiber, but is brittle. A cotton blend gives it strength.

Of greatest interest to the textile men are the first new fabrics being made from corn. Some years ago the Ames, Iowa, government lab found a way to make furfural for nylon from corncobs. Now there is a corn grain thread being made.

It was developed at the government's Peoria, Ill., corn products laboratory. The germ is first taken out of the grain, then the starch treated to make a fibre. The corn thread can't be used alone, but must be blended with wool and cotton.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 2, 1955

GOOD MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

The administration headed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang has made a sound contribution to better government of this fast-growing and expanding community. Many progressive steps have been taken and others are in progress for the betterment of the people of the city and those of the outlying communities who daily visit Kingston.

Working with Mayor Stang for the past 22 months was Joseph Kelly, a capable alderman-at-large, and a Common Council with a Republican majority. The Common Council conducted the city's business efficiently and publicly and the residents were given an opportunity to be heard on any subject of public interest. This is good municipal government.

John J. Schwenk, a well and favorably known public servant, is the Republican candidate to succeed Mr. Kelly, who declined re-nomination upon his promotion to city editor of The Freeman. Mr. Schwenk previously presided over the Common Council and he has been a member of the Board of Public Works and the Kingston Water Board. His knowledge of municipal affairs and his devotion to civic duties eminently qualify him for this important post.

In the various wards of the city are Republican candidates for aldermen who as teammates of Mayor Stang will back up his constructive program.

We do not believe that the people of this community want to swap this good government program.

The opportunity to continue men in office who will carry on and enlarge this successful program will be given the electorate at the general election next Tuesday.

NEW TOP MARINE

The new commandant of the United States Marine Corps is Lieutenant General Randolph McCall Pate. He succeeds General Lemuel C. Shepherd.

General Pate is an old Marine campaigner. He is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and his service with the Marine Corps includes tours of duty in China, Santo Domingo and Hawaii. He helped to plan the first offensive of World War II, the Marine landing on Tulagi and Guadalcanal. He wears the Legion of Merit for his role in planning the landings on Peleliu, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

In every war since the battle for Independence the Marines have played an important part. Because they are a small unit compared with the Navy and Army they have been able to adapt quickly to the ever changing techniques of modern warfare.

The record of the Marines is a proud one. Its officer corps is responsible for keeping the men of the corps proud of the uniform they wear. It is reassuring to know that the traditions of the corps and its leadership are in the capable hands of a man with the stature and experience of General Pate.

Keeping busy at what you're doing is the surest way to avoid worrying about never getting around to doing things you—or your wife—think you ought to be doing.

NEW HEIGHTS ACHIEVED

Unless the chimneys at General Motors' plants suddenly grow cold, this mammoth automaker will establish in 1955 the first one-billion-dollar net profit in America's business history.

For the first three quarters of the year the company made a net of 913 million dollars, already greater than its previous year-long total of 834 million achieved in 1950. So it can hardly miss.

The significance of this is not simply the evident well-being of General Motors, or even of the motor industry. What it conveys is the health and, more importantly, the growth of the whole United States.

In the pinched days of the 1930's, when we talked of a limited and "maturing" economy, the man who forecast a billion-dollar profit for any company would have been laughed off.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

QUALIFIED PATRIOTS

According to "The Harvard Crimson," President Nathan M. Pusey of that University introduced a new phrase into our language, namely, "unqualified protectors of American traditions." What kind of a citizen is qualified to be a patriot and what kind of a citizen is not so qualified? I looked through the Constitution and could not find any designated qualifications except age, nativity or the length of time in this country and intent of loyalty.

Apparently the current President of Harvard seeks to establish an elite, an intellectual elite whose qualifications would make them warders of our civic virtue. For he also said:

"It is the peculiar mission of the University and of all professions which have their roots within the University, to believe in principle, yes—but also to have the skill, the knowledge, and the will to work for increased understanding."

Granted that there are advantages in attending universities, these schools have no monopoly on understanding of or adherence to principle and never have had. The knowledge of history does give one a basis for a better understanding of current events, but a Ph.D. gives one no monopoly on such understanding. Otherwise such a figure in American history as Benjamin Franklin would not have been our most profound philosopher or Thomas Edison, our greatest physical engineer, or Henry Ford, the first, of course, our greatest manufacturer. These men never went to Harvard or any other university but they made a grand job of their lives and surely were protectors of the American tradition. In fact, Franklin may be regarded as the father of American pragmatism.

How does one qualify to be a protector of his country's traditions? Is it by going to a school where American history is not a compulsory course? How do children learn about their country's greatness? By osmosis? Does Mr. Pusey wish us to believe that the farmer, from whose watch-chain hangs no Phi Beta Kappa key, is less qualified to love his native land and defend and protect its traditions than a professor who takes the Fifth Amendment as a plea against answering whether he was ever a spy for a foreign country? Or is the worker at a machine, his fingers dipped in oil, less qualified than a book-fed pundit whose ink blisters the very paper upon which he writes debunking falsehoods concerning all that is noble?

President Pusey of Harvard used this new phrase in a defense of the Fund for the Republic, criticism of which he attributes to "misguided zeal where violence is done to such central articles in our tradition as respect for evidence and fair play."

Of course, this was Dr. Pusey's opinion a month or so ago. He does not offer a bill of particulars which is a characteristic of scholarship. Today, it could be different because the Ford people are no longer happy about the Fund for the Republic and he must by now know that much is being done to rid the Ford name of the association. In fact, we who write for newspapers have, at times, been requested to disassociate the name Ford from the Fund.

The resignation of Arthur Dean from the Fund could not have been a surprise and was not, as the Fund people try to say, over personalities but did have to do with policy. Dean said so. And one of the policies is that those who manage the Fund should have some qualifications to defend American traditions. In the opinion of some Americans, Paul Hoffman, Robert Hutchins and "Ping" Ferry are not the right guys for that job, although others may think that they are. At any rate, it is a matter for controversy. If saying so is "personalities," then the whole fight is psychological and not political.

President Pusey surely pulled a boner when he used the phrase, as "The Harvard Crimson" reported, "well-meaning but unqualified protectors of American traditions," because we shall have to ask him whether Alger Hiss, Lee Pressman, Freddy Field, graduates of Harvard, and other Harvard men who refused to be forthright about their ideas and activities, are "qualified" protectors of American traditions.

It is a specious argument one way or the other and really means too little, but when a President of so noble an institution descends to intellectual snobbishness, he should be called.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

"PHYSICIAN, EXPLAIN THYSELF"

"Every physician has faced the frustrating experience of seeing his best professional advice ignored by his patients. This is perhaps especially true in nutritional work, where 'lapses' or noncooperation are almost par for the course among patients with obesity, peptic ulcer, gall bladder disease, or high blood pressure. The accumulated knowledge of countless investigators is condensed into our recommendations and prohibitions; yet how frequently do we find obvious and flagrant violations of these well-meaning admonitions. Why?"

I am quoting from an editorial in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition which goes on to point out that no doubt many reasons are involved for failure to follow the physician's advice but that one cause (recognized in theory but often forgotten in fact) is the physician's own fault. His patients do not understand him.

A recent study made by a nutritionist on the Florida State Board of Health revealed this fact. A list of twenty commonly used words was presented to 100 women attending pregnancy clinics in various parts of the state. Ages ranged from 15 to 46, witht he average being 26 years. Half had elementary school education and half had some high-school experience. About half were from rural areas. After the patients had been put at ease, the meaning of the words were asked and the word was used in a sentence. Any reasonable definition was accepted and no time limit was imposed. Here are the startling results.

While 90 per cent of the women had some understanding of such words as pregnancy, constipation, margarine, starches, and diet, fewer than 20 per cent understood anemia, rickets, hemoglobin, enriched, or protein. Somewhat more than half knew the meaning of well-nourished, vitamins, dried milk, yellow vegetables, lean meat and egg yolk. But less than half could explain nutrition, maternity, citrus fruits or balanced diet.

On the average, only 12 words of the 20 were understood. Not one patient understood every word of the twenty mentioned above. Only 17 knew the meaning of 16 or more terms. Those with some high school training could comprehend an average of 13.4 words, those with elementary schooling only 10.4.

Among the interesting sidelights to this survey were: one out of four did not know which part of the egg is called "yolk"; "vitamins" often meant to them some kind of pills—not related to food or nutrition; anemia was often confused with enema.

This means that there is need for a constant awareness of the words used by physician, nurse, dietitian or any health worker. Literature such as diet lists should be very simply written and explained verbally when distributed.

Too often the patient will nod knowingly rather than say he does not understand and I will wager we have all been guilty of doing just this same thing about one subject or another during our lifetime. We must be very sure when given directions by our physician that we understand exactly what he means and if we do not, ask him to explain more fully.

"—But Have You Seen This Snapshot of My Boy?"

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva—During the so-called summit conference the Manchester Guardian, of England, pulled supercilious sneers at President Eisenhower for riding about Geneva attended by the normal escort of presidential flycops while the jovial Muscovites rode in lowneck motors blowing kisses to the apathetic Swiss who loyally live up to their motto that peace hath her profiteers no less great than wars.

The Guardian is a friendly paper, rather like a member of our own family in the candor of its contempt for our sensibilities. The implication to me was that the Guardian thought Ike showed a yellow streak. The Russians took advantage of this suggestion, voiced also by others, and flaunted their courage by waving to casual traffic which could not have shown less interest. All this put Ike and the United States at such disadvantage that American bon vivants hit upon the notion of setting him down afoot for a stroll in the manner of Harry Truman on his visits to the Waldorf Tower.

For a special flourish and challenge to the Guardian Ike plunged into a Mom and Pop store, where toys were sold, in an amiable variation of the ancient rite of baby kissing. Thus the score was brought to better than even for our side. There were, you may remember, indomitable pessimists who insisted that the Russian grins were mere muscular exercises of no political significance and that whoever hoped otherwise ought to be committed. Senator Joe McCarthy and Senator Bill Jenner, of Indiana, both repeatedly and heatedly flung misgivings at their colleagues but were suppressed by a cabal of our journalism which, with strange unanimity, quarantined such doubts.

Time sped, according to custom, and Wednesday of last week arrived. So did Mr. Dulles and retinue and the foreign ministers of Russia, Britain, and France with their supporting casts. They washed up and at four in the afternoon whirled into the grand courtyard of the Palace of Nations. But now the sunshine of Ike's smile and of the summer on Lake Geneva were wanting.

Journalists with elaborate credentials, already certified by complex professional political social tests were herded over a paper chase from the near end of this vast edifice to the extreme far corner. There they were at last confronted by a heavy glass door guarded by robust Swiss detectives who let them pass one by one for a last inspection of the press card bearing the suspect's photograph.

The guard took hasty relish in nodding yes that mine was a fine likeness and passed me along for the body frisk. I have seen this in police stations but never before have I seen journalists put to the process. The accused must hald still and raise his arms. The cop then runs his hands up and down the subject's back, pats him under the arms for knives or holsters, and finally gives him a good going over with both hands down to the ankles. Fortunately I had left my equalizer at the hotel and so got by into the Grand Court to join a certified harmless band of 60 journalists, broadcasters and photographers, awaiting their excellencies, held back by traffic cops and iron railings.

A lady journalist was next behind me and a female flick gave her the works. She had to open her purse, the size of a satchel, open her short fur jacket and submit to familiarities. Finally, with a half triumphant "ha," the female cop discovered in the pocket of the jacket an object which might have been an old-fashioned bootlegger's pineapple or hand grenade but proved to be a scrawny green pear.

An hour dragged past. It is cold here and it was hardly worth the hardship to wait, yet one does throw good moments after bad had at last an American limousine drove up with an elegant swoop and discharged John Foster Dulles and three or four ladies of inoffensive mien. There were a series of alarms, seemingly arranged to confuse assassins, after Dulles, Macmillan, of Britain, and many others had waved with excellent facsimiles of Eisenhower's grin.

A great black funeral hack slewed to a stop at the head of a procession of many such cars. It bore the hammer and sickle on the red field. Masses of meat billowed out and surrounded the car. This we thought was the pilot car, Molotov doubtless was in one of several others behind. It was a sort of shell game. To draw a bead on Molotov a gunman or bombcaster would have to guess right or work fast. To our surprise then, as planned, Molotov emerged last from the first car. He squirmed out feet first like a worm out of a nut, squared his rumpled hat and scurried toward the palace door. The photographers groaned and yelped at him to hold still and throw them a smile. Molotov turned back two steps, he puckered his features in a wrinkled imitation of a withered quince. Normalcy was here again.

'Mystery' of Flying Saucer Is Officially Solved Now

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 2 — The mystery of the flying saucers—it really never was a mystery except in an official sense—has been solved officially at last.

It turns out that the American people had the truth all the time—they did see flying objects in the air shaped like saucers. But for official reasons, mostly related to security, it was apparently decided never to admit that there were objects of such shape — planes or missiles — which could rise vertically.

The key to the misunderstanding is in one word, "conventional." From the start of the stories, the Air Force insisted that observers were engaged in a "misinterpretation of various conventional objects."

Everything that is on the drawing boards or in the test period could be called "conventional." Certainly when jet planes first whizzed across the skies they were unusual to the public but in the technical language used in official statements they could be termed just "conventional" airplanes, if for security reasons it was desired to regard them as such.

It is interesting to go back five years and compare what the Air Force and Defense Department said then, with what is being said officially now. There is indeed a significant similarity and the original thesis is maintained. Here is what the Air Force said a few days ago in an official statement:

"WE ARE NOW entering a period of aviation technology in which aircraft of unusual configuration and flight characteristics will begin to appear.

"The Air Force and the other armed services have under development several vertical-rising, high-performance aircraft, and as early as last year, a propeller-driven vertical-rising aircraft was flown. The Air Force will fly the first jet-powered vertical-rising airplane in a matter of days. We have another project under contract with Avro, Ltd. of Canada, which could result in disc-shaped aircraft. . . ."

Everybody familiar with aviation knows that it takes years of testing of new models before a contract is let or an announcement is made that a plane will be formally exhibited to the public.

The Air Force now says that its own study of the reports about "flying saucers" shows that "all the unidentified aerial objects could have been explained if more complete observational data had been available" and that aircraft, balloons and shooting stars and missiles of various kinds undoubtedly accounted for the strange things people saw or thought they saw. It is officially admitted that a fifth of the reports involved aircraft of some kind.

BUT IT IS INTERESTING to go back to an article in "U. S. News & World Report" for April 7, 1950, which gave the first comprehensive explanation of the "flying saucers." In that issue models of "convertiplanes" and combinations of helicopters and conventional aircraft were described and pictures printed of those models which show a close similarity of the planned Air Force "convertiplanes" of 1955. The 1950 magazine article said:

"The first U. S. model designed by Charles H. Zimmerman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was elliptical in shape, powered by two piston engines and driven by twin propellers. It had a maximum speed between 400 and 500 miles an hour.

"More important, it could rise almost vertically and its minimum speed for landing was only about 35 miles an hour, a great advantage in military and naval aircraft. And it was far more maneuverable than conventional military planes."

WHAT HAPPENED to this early model? The same magazine report in 1950 says:

"It was purchased by the Navy after the original model was tested in 1942. The first full-sized aircraft, built by Chance-Vought, was thoroughly tested by Navy engineers. Then a statement was released that this project had been dropped. Early experimenting with 'saucers' centered in the Navy."

This correspondent on April 6, 1950, published extracts from a memorandum furnished him by members of the staff of "U. S. News & World Report" who investigated the stories of "flying saucers." It read in part as follows:

"The Air Force has received statements from hundreds of people in more than 300 cases in which flying saucers were believed to have been seen. At least a dozen of these cases involved thoroughly competent witnesses who had a clear view of the saucer aircraft. They are Air Force flyers who chased saucers, commercial pilots who had a good look at the circular aircraft, high ranking Army officers who saw one over Fort Knox, air technicians at Wright Field, balloon experts who tracked one near White Sands, New Mexico . . .

"THE SAUCERS observed traveled several hundred miles an hour and often against the wind, eliminating the possibility of weather balloons. They maneuvered and even rose vertically, eliminating meteors. They were often seen by dozens or even hundreds of people at once, so that hysteria is not a likely answer. . . .

"Evidence clearly points to a project within the United States. It is also obviously an expensive one on which millions probably have been sunk in research. That indicates a government project, one done with great secrecy."

Experimentation in new types of aircraft has been going on since 1945. Some are convertiplanes, some circular, some resembling helicopters, and some still on the "secret" list. Among those revealed publicly, the McDonnell Aircraft Company of St. Louis, the Bell Aviation Company at Fort Worth, Texas, and the Convair Company on the West Coast, all have characteristics that were reported originally in the "flying saucer" stories. More than a dozen other aircraft companies are developing some new types of planes and the testing areas coincide with the places where early reports came on flying saucers.

Now the "secret" is out. At least it is officially admitted that "jet-powered vertical-rising, high-performance" aircraft are here from now on. Nobody officially is saying how and where they were developed and tested and during what period of time.

Smokers on Ice

Helena, Mont. (AP) — Montana University inherited 300 iceboxes with a housing project and things got hot for several persons. The residents found it cheaper to use electric refrigeration and the boxes were junked. Montana law required junked iceboxes to be stripped of locks and catches. Parents got so hot about the boxes on the junk heap that MU President Carl McFarland posted a 24-hour hour guard over them. The problem melted away after the iceboxes were offered free to all takers. Within a couple days they were carted away. Hunters and fishermen wanted them to convert into meat smokers. Do-it-yourself addicts liked them for tool boxes.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—In the desperate effort to find new outlets for the huge, 23-million bale, two-year surplus supply of American-grown cotton the U. S. government is now stuck with, research laboratories are turning out a whole dry-goods store full of new textiles.

Some of them will do tricks that cotton cloth never did before. Together, they offer a new multimillion-dollar market.

CHESTNUT AND SAUSAGE dressing will give tasteful variety if you'd like to experiment with something different.

Chestnut-sausage stuffing for the traditional Thanksgiving turkey—that's a savory blessing. We tested it at the recent southern colonial dinner given by the American Spice Trade Association to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

Roast Turkey With Chestnut-Sausage Stuffing

Fifteen to 18-pound ready-to-cook turkey, salt, chestnut-sausage stuffing, 2 sticks butter or margarine, melted, 3 cups hot water.

Wash turkey and sprinkle inside lightly with salt. Fill body and neck cavities loosely with chestnut-sausage stuffing. Fasten neck skin to the back with a skewer. Fold wings flat against the body. Lace abdominal cavity with string and skewers to hold in stuffing. Tie legs together and fasten to tail.

Place on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Brush skin of bird with melted butter or margarine. Add hot water to the remaining melted butter or margarine into which dip a clean, white cloth. Wring out slightly and place over the turkey. Cook in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees F.) 6 to 6½ hours. If cloth dries out during the cooking period, remove from turkey and wring out again in warm butter or margarine water and place over turkey.

Chestnut-Sausage Stuffing (Yield: Stuffing for 15 to 18-pound turkey)

One pound sausage meat, 1 cup chopped onion, 1 cup sliced celery, ½ cup chopped parsley, 15 cups toasted bread cubes, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon crumbled whole thyme leaves, 1 teaspoon crumbled whole marjoram leaves, 2 teaspoons ground sage, ½ teaspoon ground black pepper, ½ cup diced green olives, 1 pound (2½ cups) chopped chestnuts, roasted, ¼ cup melted butter or margarine, ½ cup water.

Brown sausage lightly in skillet along with onion and celery. Mix with remaining ingredients. Fill body cavity and crop of a 15 to 18-pound turkey with this mixture.

COLONIAL THANKSGIVING DINNER: Assorted hors d'oeuvres and chilled beverages, roast turkey with chestnut-sausage dressing, mushroom giblet gravy, sweet potato souffle, green beans with peanut browned butter sauce, Sally Lunn bread, butter or margarine, mixed green salad with spiced oil and vinegar dressing, frozen plum pudding, little chocolate spice cookies, coffee, tea, milk.

Lions Told United States In 'Middle' on Colonials

The difficulty of the United States position on colonial issues was cited yesterday by Dr. Willard Hogan, a member of the faculty of New Paltz State Teachers College and former member of a United Nations committee appointed to study revision of the UN charter, in a talk before the Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He pointed out that this country, the traditional friend of colonials, having led one of the first revolts against imperialism, was in the "middle" in a sense because the colonial nations are among our leading allies in "containing the expansion of Communist powers."

ONE OF THE MOST sensitive areas in UN deliberations today is the complicated issue of colonialism, the question of self-determination of peoples under alien rule, Dr. Hogan said.

He called atention to the recent walkout of the French delegation when the General Assembly voted to include the Algerian and Moroccan questions on its agenda and inquired hypothetically if the UN had any business to consider cases of this sort. He said it would be rather like the UN telling the United States what to do about the Territory of Hawaii.

HE SAID he believed the French walked out primarily because of an internal political crisis in which the nationalists might have overturned the cabinet if the government had failed to act vigorously on the issue of North African colonialism. He said he thought the French would "be back."

The United States has aligned itself with a group of nations in the UN which believe that colonialism is not a valid concern of that body, he pointed out. Another group in the UN seeks to destroy colonialism.

THIS COUNTRY found itself in an uncomfortable position on the West New Guinea issue, Dr. Hogan said, explaining that Indonesia, which recently secured its independence, felt West New Guinea should become a part of Indonesia, whereas the Dutch felt it should remain under their hegemony. The colonial powers, including the United States, blocked an attempt to include the issue on the UN agenda. Both Indonesia and Holland are bitter because this nation failed to take a strong stand either way.

The Cyprus question is also full of dynamite, Dr. Hogan pointed out. Greece has asked for a referendum among the population of that vital Mediterreanean island. A majority of the residents of the island would probably vote for unification with Greece. However, Turkey would object to the Greek domination of the island because of the Turkish population on Cyprus. The British, who have a strong military base on Cyprus, like things the way they are—and the United States has aligned itself with the British.

DR. HOGAN SAID 10 years of UN existence had justified its establishment and usefulness—that it had frequently been successful in obtaining a truce in angry situations, thus providing the possibility of peaceful settlement of differences over a period of time.

Dr. Hogan called attention to the Ulster County United Nations Association, which was organized recently, recommending support of the unit. He announced that Dr. Eugene Link of the faculty of New Paltz State Teachers College, who taught in a university in India last year, would be the speaker at a meeting of the association on November 14.

President Harry Gold presented Monarch certificates to Warren F. Smith for 15 years as a Lion and to Bob Teetsel for 10 years.

It was announced that a third set of eyes—those of a young Saugerties woman—had been delivered by the Lions Club eye bank for corneal transplant.

Dr. Hogan was introduced by Walter Donnaruma, chairman of the program committee.

Upholds Gallagher Term

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—The commanding general of the First Army has upheld the life sentence imposed by a court martial on Sgt. James C. Gallagher, who was convicted of murdering two fellow prisoners of war in Korea. The action yesterday by Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Herren completed the first of two automatic reviews of the case. The trial record now goes to Washington for review by an army department board. If the board's decision is against Gallagher, he could appeal to the U. S. Court of Military Appeals. The court of three civilian justices was established by Congress and appointed by the President to review certain military cases.

Two Criminals Taken

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Two men on the city's "most wanted" list of criminals have been picked up by police in nearby towns. Richard Lombard, No. 11 on the list, was returned here and booked in the Bronx early today on a series of charges stemming from an attempted holdup and a gun battle last July 20. Lombard, 51, was picked up by state troopers yesterday on a highway near Sloatsburg, N. Y. They reported they saw him in an automobile and decided to question him because they "did not like his looks." In Bayonne, N. J., police reported the arrest of Jerome (Sunny) Kemper just four days after his name was added to the list of the 13 most wanted men.

Proposes Reds Take Part

Moscow, Nov. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister U Nu of Burma has proposed that the Soviet Union take part in future Asian-African conferences such as that at Bandung, Indonesia, last spring. Nu, who has been touring Russia, spoke at a dinner given last night at the Swank Soviestskaya Hotel by about a dozen countries which were active in the Bandung conference.

Vol Police to Meet

A special meeting of the Volunteer Police Association of Ulster County will be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 8:30 p. m. at the West Hurley Firehouse. All members of the association are urged to be present as important business is to be taken up.

Police Checking Burglary, Theft Of Auto Caps

A downtown burglary and theft of automobile hub caps were reported to local police today.

A metal box with $8 in cash, and ring and other items, was reported taken from the home of John Horvers, 9 Meadow street, apparently during the night.

Police were notified at 7:52 a. m., that entrance was gained through a rear door and the box was taken from a dresser drawer. It contained insurance and other papers, and a cigarette lighter, along with the ring and cash.

THE BOX was found broken at the rear of the property, and the cigarette lighter was found in the cellar, but the ring and cash were missing.

Burgell Crispell, of 27 Alcazar avenue, notified police at 12:50 a. m., that four hub caps were taken from his car while it was parked on Cornell street near the Bowladrome. Their total value was listed as $60.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating.

Alert Port Ewen Man Helps End Suicide Attempt

An attempted suicide by a 28-year-old Brooklyn man was frustrated Tuesday afternoon by an alert resident of Port Ewen and deputies of the Ulster county sheriff's office, according to a report from there today.

The resident, whose name was not released for publication, noticed a 1954 sedan parked yesterday morning in a Port Ewen street near his home, not far off Route 9W, with a man apparently asleep inside. This was about 5 a. m.

He just thought the man was sleeping, he told the sheriff's department, but later in the afternoon he saw the man still apparently sleeping in the car and thought he'd better notify the sheriff.

DEPUTIES Tony Alecca and Benjamin Newkirk were dispatched to the scene and found the doors of the car locked. They managed to get one of the doors open—without breaking a glass, it was reported—and the man was rushed to Kingston Hospital.

County Investigator Arthur Brown said today the man, George Nicholas Maliha, of 768 45th street, Brooklyn, an employe of the Western Electric Company, Kearney, N. J., had driven up 9W, parked in a village street about midnight Monday and taken a number of sleeping pills. He said he was having domestic troubles.

The man was reported in good condition by hospital authorities, after his stomach had been pumped out.

Mr. Brown said the man told him he had tried to commit suicide about six weeks ago when he drove to Coney Island and slashed his wrists. But he was found in his car by a policeman and taken to a hospital where he recovered.

Tougher Law

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Rep. Boggs (D-La.) wants to make things much tougher on those convicted of trafficing in narcotics, particularly first offenders. Faure Asks Third Vote

Paris, Nov. 2 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure goes before the National Assembly for the third time in 16 days tonight to ask for a vote of confidence. Even his most bitter enemies were likely to hesitate before voting against the premier in the session beginning at 9 p. m. (3 p. m., EST). The premier's idea of dissolving the present assembly on Jan. 2 and holding a quick election in December appeared popular throughout the nation. Any deputy voting against the government might seem to be in a position of wanting to avoid a test of his own popularity at the ballot box. The present Assembly's five-year term is not up until next June.

Appeals Court Denies Ballot To Troy Mayor

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—An Appeals Court has upheld the decision ruling Mayor Edward H. Fitzgerald of Troy off next Tuesday's ballot but he is allowed to appeal to the state's highest court.

The Appellate Division, third department, of state Supreme Court, unanimously upheld yesterday a Supreme Court decision that Fitzgerald lacked sufficient valid signatures on his nominating petitions to qualify him as an independent candidate.

Fitzgerald was given leave to take the case to the Court of Appeals, which was to hear it (at 2 p. m.) today.

HE SOUGHT to run as an independent after he lost a primary battle for the Republican nomination to Assemblyman Thomas H. Brown, the organization choice.

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, presiding over a special term held last week that 757 of the 2,060 signatures on the petitions were invalid, leaving him short of the 1,500 required.

The Appellate Division said in its written decision, "questions of law are involved that ought to be reviewed."

It continued that "from our necessary hasty and imperfect examination of the recount, unaided by assistance of counsel for the appellant, we are unable to find any instances in which the special term was in error."

Asuncion, Paraguay, Nov. 2 (AP)—Juan D. Peron, deposed president of Argentina, slipped aboard a plane at Asuncion's airport at dawn today for a sudden and unexpected flight to Nicaragua, the government press office announced. Peron left from the Gen. Stroesser Airport, accompanied by another man. His companion was not his aide, Maj. Ignacio Cialceta, who was the only member of the ex-president's entourage to accompany him from Buenos Aires a month ago.

SLA Probe . . .

these persons resigned during the investigation, which began last March, and others pleaded the Fifth Amendment when questioned.

"THE GENERAL PUBLIC," the Cooke statement said, "cannot be overly impressed by Mr. Shapiro's alleged discovery that one former member of the SLA once had wagered on horse races. This was a case of where Mr. Shapiro's investigative mountain labored and brought forth a mouse.

"The public will note, however, that Mr. Shapiro's report said two other former commissioners were honest, which is in pointed contrast to his claim in the newspapers on July 2 that they were "forced out by the investigation"—his implication being that they were guilty of either wrong-doing or improprieties.

"IT IS AN OPEN SECRET that Mr. Shapiro's probe was designed to achieve three purposes: to intimidate and force out Republican employes to provide jobs for Democrats in the SLA; to discredit, if possible, the previous state administration, and to advance Mr. Shapiro's personal political ambitions.

"The courts," Senator Cooke's statement continued, "recently put a halt to Mr. Shapiro's high-handed attempts to force employes of the SLA—all the employes of an entire division of the state government who were unaccused of any wrongdoing—to answer a vicious, prying questionnaire concerning their most personal and family affairs. The public will judge the effectiveness—and the motives—of Mr. Shapiro's investigation by the results as they are finally assessed through the orderly and legal processes of law, by a grand jury and by the courts.

"Meanwhile, the general public, I am confident, is not impressed by the torrent of smearing adjectives spewed by Mr. Shapiro, in his report, which is a sensational but hallow document designed to conceal the lack of concrete results in an investigation that seems to have been an utter failure."

"Any proper evaluation of the investigation will include consideration of these factors.

"The Republican party always has supported and always will support bona fide investigations to root out or to prevent wrong-doing or improprieties in government. A Republican administration created the very office whose powers and responsibilities Mr. Shapiro seems to be abusing with arrogant disdain for the rights of individuals and the traditions of honest, objective official behaviour in discharging such broad powers and responsibilities."

Won't See Princess

London, Nov. 2 (AP)—Peter Townsend, slowly picking up the threads of his life after a shattered romance, said today he has no intention of seeing Princess Margaret again before he returns to his job as air attache in the British embassy in Brussels on Sunday. The handsome divorced RAF hero, whose love Margaret renounced for God and country, talked to newsmen at the gates of Eridge Castle, home of Lord Abergavenny in the rolling Sussex countryside today. He came over from nearby Uckfield House, where he trysted with the princess last weekend, in a car driven by Lord Rupert Nevill, a brother of Lord Abergavenny.

Police Checking Burglary, Theft Of Auto Caps

A downtown burglary and theft of automobile hub caps were reported to local police today.

A metal box with $8 in cash, and ring and other items, was reported taken from the home of John Horvers, 9 Meadow street, apparently during the night.

Police were notified at 7:52 a. m., that entrance was gained through a rear door and the box was taken from a dresser drawer. It contained insurance and other papers, and a cigarette lighter, along with the ring and cash.

THE BOX was found broken at the rear of the property, and the cigarette lighter was found in the cellar, but the ring and cash were missing.

Burgell Crispell, of 27 Alcazar avenue, notified police at 12:50 a. m., that four hub caps were taken from his car while it was parked on Cornell street near the Bowladrome. Their total value was listed as $60.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating.

Alert Port Ewen Man Helps End Suicide Attempt

An attempted suicide by a 28-year-old Brooklyn man was frustrated Tuesday afternoon by an alert resident of Port Ewen and deputies of the Ulster county sheriff's office, according to a report from there today.

The resident, whose name was not released for publication, noticed a 1954 sedan parked yesterday morning in a Port Ewen street near his home, not far off Route 9W, with a man apparently asleep inside. This was about 5 a. m.

He just thought the man was sleeping, he told the sheriff's department, but later in the afternoon he saw the man still apparently sleeping in the car and thought he'd better notify the sheriff.

DEPUTIES Tony Alecca and Benjamin Newkirk were dispatched to the scene and found the doors of the car locked. They managed to get one of the doors open—without breaking a glass, it was reported—and the man was rushed to Kingston Hospital.

County Investigator Arthur Brown said today the man, George Nicholas Maliha, of 768 45th street, Brooklyn, an employe of the Western Electric Company, Kearney, N. J., had driven up 9W, parked in a village street about midnight Monday and taken a number of sleeping pills. He said he was having domestic troubles.

The man was reported in good condition by hospital authorities, after his stomach had been pumped out.

Mr. Brown said the man told him he had tried to commit suicide about six weeks ago when he drove to Coney Island and slashed his wrists. But he was found in his car by a policeman and taken to a hospital where he recovered.

Faure Asks Third Vote

Paris, Nov. 2 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure goes before the National Assembly for the third time in 16 days tonight to ask for a vote of confidence. Even his most bitter enemies were likely to hesitate before voting against the premier in the session beginning at 9 p. m. (3 p. m., EST). The premier's idea of dissolving the present assembly on Jan. 2 and holding a quick election in December appeared popular throughout the nation. Any deputy voting against the government might seem to be in a position of wanting to avoid a test of his own popularity at the ballot box. The present Assembly's five-year term is not up until next June.

Appeals Court Denies Ballot To Troy Mayor

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—An Appeals Court has upheld the decision ruling Mayor Edward H. Fitzgerald of Troy off next Tuesday's ballot but he is allowed to appeal to the state's highest court.

The Appellate Division, third department, of state Supreme Court, unanimously upheld yesterday a Supreme Court decision that Fitzgerald lacked sufficient valid signatures on his nominating petitions to qualify him as an independent candidate.

Fitzgerald was given leave to take the case to the Court of Appeals, which was to hear it (at 2 p. m.) today.

HE SOUGHT to run as an independent after he lost a primary battle for the Republican nomination to Assemblyman Thomas H. Brown, the organization choice.

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, presiding over a special term held last week that 757 of the 2,060 signatures on the petitions were invalid, leaving him short of the 1,500 required.

The Appellate Division said in its written decision, "questions of law are involved that ought to be reviewed."

It continued that "from our necessary hasty and imperfect examination of the recount, unaided by assistance of counsel for the appellant, we are unable to find any instances in which the special term was in error."

Accord Man Is Shot by Hunter

Accompanying Ripple and Houston was Delbert Flynn of Oradell, N. J.

Mr. Brown said Houston was shooting at a rabbit and some small shot struck Mr. Ripple accidentally. He was treated by Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh of Accord and taken to Kingston Hospital where he was treated and discharged.

Deputies Benjamin Newkirk and Anthony Alecca of the sheriff's office investigated.

Banking committee staff members announced this today as the group prepared to move its hearings into northeast areas hardest hit by floods this summer. Two days of sessions here marked by mild exchanges between Sen. Lehman (D-N.Y.), who criticized the Eisenhower administration for not having ready specific recommendations on disaster insurance, and Sen. Bush (R-Conn.), who decried what he called "flood politics."

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits proposed today that federal and New York state laws be strengthened to give the public better protection against fraudulent stock operations. His recommendations dealt particularly with promotions of some new uranium and so-called "penny" stocks. Javits' proposal was contained in a statement prepared for a hearing here by the U. S. House subcommittee on commerce and finance.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

A FEW FAST FACTS: Liberace, before his arrival in New York, requested that the Gotham Hotel put four TV sets in his suite . . . Maurice Chevalier had to turn down Ed Murrow's request to appear on "Person to Person" — his contract for TV on NBC forbids it. . . . CBS-TV's "You Are There" will be made into a book, with Walter Cronkite as editor . . . Jane Pickens and her husband, Bill Langley, will spend next summer cruising around Europe on the 70-foot yacht they're having built in England . . . When NBC-Radio's big five-a-week show, "Weekday," begins, one feature will be a daily reading from a best-seller. First will be Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift From the Sea," which will be read by either Martha Scott or Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Arthur Godfrey fired Lu Ann Simms, right on the heels of his dismissal of three other "friends," and the timing of the red-head's axe is slightly curious. It fell just in time to coincide with the publishing of his story in the Saturday Evening Post, and give the story some front-page publicity. Miss Simms, incidentally, has been off his show to have a baby since March, so now Arthur is even firing people who aren't on his show.

For Hugh O'Brian, playing Wyatt Earp is a labor of love. It is also a labor of good hard cash, too, but let's forget that crass commercial angle.

O'Brian grew up liking western stories. He went to western movies, read western books and otherwise plunged fantasy-deep into the old frontier days.

"I particularly wondered about the everyday life on the frontier," he says, dressed in the unique frock-coat kind of outfit Wyatt Earp wears. "For instance, what did they do when their clothes were creased? There were no dry cleaners in Dodge City."

He still don't know the answer to that one, but he does know why Wyatt Earp's frock coat had a slash in the back. That was so he could draw his six-shooter without unbuttoning the coat, which could have been the pause that kills.

So, on his new ABC-TV show, O'Brian wears the authentic Wyatt Earp frock coat, accurate down to the vital slash. The pants are like high society striped trousers and the hat has a straight brim, like a gaucho's. One mother wrote to him that she approves the costume—"if my boy wears cowboy clothes like yours, at least he can go to church in them."

O'Brian is still reading western stories — specifically, "Wyatt Earp, Frontier Marshal," by Stuart Lake. His copy is beat-up and earmarked and full of notes in the margain. If the show turns out to be hailed as pretty authentic stuff, it's mainly because Hugh O'Brian reads so much.

Declarer could give up two spades to East and use dummy's jack to force out West's high spade. There was just time enough to bring in the ten of spades as an overtrick, and South scored 990 points on a hand that the opponents could have passed at two diamonds.

When a modern mining company wanted to buy four small islands in Lake Superior, it found the land was held by the U. Weak Two-Bid Has Pitfalls

By OSWALD JACOBY

One of the advantages of the "weak" two-bid is that it tempts even expert opponents to do foolish things. When today's hand was played in the national championships, a couple of months ago, West certainly knew enough to pass the hand out at two diamonds, but he yielded to the temptation to take action. From then on it was hard to stop East from acting.

East passed the double of two diamonds, electing to play for penalties. Now Myron Field, whose team eventually won and will go to Paris in January to play for the world championship, rescued himself in hearts. East doubled with satisfaction and waited for the slaughter to begin.

West could actually have set the contract one trick (hardly a slaughter) by leading a spade. East would take two spades, enter the West hand with a club, discard on the king of spades, and ruff a fourth spade. The ace of trumps would be the setting trick.

West had no way of knowing what it would take to set the contract. The bidding hinted that East had good diamonds, so

West led the five of diamonds. Field won in dummy and cashed another high diamond to discard the singleton club. He then led the trump from dummy and finessed the ten from his hand when East played low.

The contract was now home, but Field was in the market for overtricks. He led the king of hearts to force out the ace, ruffed a club return, drew the last trump, and led a low spade. West played low, and Field played a low spade from dummy.

This fine play was based on sound reasoning. If the spades were 3-3, it didn't matter whether dummy played high or low. If the spades were 4-2, which was

A FEW FAST FACTS: Liberace, before his arrival in New York, requested that the Gotham Hotel put four TV sets in his suite . . . Maurice Chevalier had to turn down Ed Murrow's request to appear on "Person to Person" — his contract for TV on NBC forbids it. . . . CBS-TV's "You Are There" will be made into a book, with Walter Cronkite as editor . . . Jane Pickens and her husband, Bill Langley, will spend next summer cruising around Europe on the 70-foot yacht they're having built in England . . . When NBC-Radio's big five-a-week show, "Weekday," begins, one feature will be a daily reading from a best-seller. First will be Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift From the Sea," which will be read by either Martha Scott or Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Arthur Godfrey fired Lu Ann Simms, right on the heels of his dismissal of three other "friends," and the timing of the red-head's axe is slightly curious. It fell just in time to coincide with the publishing of his story in the Saturday Evening Post, and give the story some front-page publicity. Miss Simms, incidentally, has been off his show to have a baby since March, so now Arthur is even firing people who aren't on his show.

Men Questioned In Trio Slaying

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—Police seeking a solution to the baffling and brutal murder of three schoolboys today questioned two Chicago men seized in an abandoned Wisconsin farmhouse.

The men, identified as Ed Kline, 30, and Charles Driscoll, 19, were arrested Monday night and were returned last night after waiving extradition.

Their arrest was ordered after Driscoll's mother told police they had been together from 5 p. m. until sometime after 11:30 p. m. on Oct. 16, the night the three boys were strangled.

THE NAKED and battered bodies of Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton, were found Oct. 18, two days after they disappeared.

Driscoll underwent a 45-minute lie detector test immediately upon his return to Chicago but police said the results were "inconclusive." Police expected to decide today whether to give Driscoll a second test. Kline may also undergo a lie test, police said.

Frank Ferlic, assistant state's attorney said "both men deny any participation in the killings.

Teenager Admits Slaying Man, 82

Sandy Hook, Ky., Nov. 2 (AP)—A teenager, one of four persons lodged in separate jails on murder charges, has confessed the slaying of an 82-year-old country storekeeper, Sheriff A. D. Lewis reported last night.

Jesse Adkins, a storekeeper for more than 50 years, lay sprawled on the floor of his store near the Elliott-Morgan county line when the robbers fled yesterday He died from a bullet wound under the left eye. His empty pistol which he apparently fired wildly at the fleeing robbers lay nearby.

Gary Thompson, 17, last of the four seized by authorities, surrendered a .38 pistol with a 5-inch barrel containing two spent shells to the sheriff.

Strike Called Off

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2 (AP)—A threatened strike of bus and trolley operators against the Pittsburgh Railways Co. was called off early today. Less than two hours after a midnight strike deadline, Mayor David L. Lawrence announced an "indefinite postponement" of the scheduled walkout by 2,280 members of Division 85, AFL Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes. Lawrence's announcement came a short time after the union rejected a new contract proposal by a vote of 800-554. The proposal would have given the men a four-cent hourly pay increase immediately and another five cents an hour hike next May 1.

Thieves Miss Information

Missoula, Mont. (AP) — Failure to keep his two juvenile partners in crime informed caused the downfall of a modern Fagin. He did not tell the youngsters where he stole the tires he wanted them to sell for him. Police were called in when the boys tried to sell the tires to the same firm from which they were stolen.

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—Police seeking a solution to the baffling and brutal murder of three schoolboys today questioned two Chicago men seized in an abandoned Wisconsin farmhouse.

The men, identified as Ed Kline, 30, and Charles Driscoll, 19, were arrested Monday night and were returned last night after waiving extradition.

Their arrest was ordered after Driscoll's mother told police they had been together from 5 p. m. until sometime after 11:30 p. m. on Oct. 16, the night the three boys were strangled.

THE NAKED and battered bodies of Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton, were found Oct. 18, two days after they disappeared.

Driscoll underwent a 45-minute lie detector test immediately upon his return to Chicago but police said the results were "inconclusive." Police expected to decide today whether to give Driscoll a second test. Kline may also undergo a lie test, police said.

Frank Ferlic, assistant state's attorney said "both men deny any participation in the killings.

Strike Called Off

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2 (AP)—A threatened strike of bus and trolley operators against the Pittsburgh Railways Co. was called off early today. Less than two hours after a midnight strike deadline, Mayor David L. Lawrence announced an "indefinite postponement" of the scheduled walkout by 2,280 members of Division 85, AFL Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes. Lawrence's announcement came a short time after the union rejected a new contract proposal by a vote of 800-554. The proposal would have given the men a four-cent hourly pay increase immediately and another five cents an hour hike next May 1.

Think It Through

CONFUSION

Bust in labor pay hurts the farmer. Labor raises mean the farm boys pay more for all things they need to operate the farm, because increased pay to the city boys means the manufacturer must increase the price of products produced.

So the cost is higher taxes to consumers, and the farm boys are consumers.

Mr. Hutton

Now, an administration in an election year is unlikely to be reelected if business and employment are in bad shape. So a little inflation, while bad, is good politics.

The present administration had nothing to do with the advance in security prices. Supply and demand regulate prices. All in all, the Economy is as interesting to watch these days as the course of unpredictable hurricanes.

The Mary and Joe Doaks, who supply the dough to run the government, watch wages go up, security prices on the up and up — credit easy going, spending, no let up. And, when we finish paying Uncle Samuel his cut, we're in hock — same as our Uncle.

Inflation is bad; deflation is, too. So the country is in a political merry-go-round, listening to Reuther and Adlai Stevenson. And, should we put our faith in Harriman, we will go back to our gardens and woodpiles.

However, these forces have stimulated productive enterprise and have upped prices and wages to new highs.

Is inflation to be feared? The question seems reasonable, and it resolves itself to one's choice.

What's yours, neighbor?

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

CONFUSION

Bust in labor pay hurts the farmer. Labor raises mean the farm boys pay more for all things they need to operate the farm, because increased pay to the city boys means the manufacturer must increase the price of products produced.

So the cost is higher taxes to consumers, and the farm boys are consumers.

Mr. Hutton

Now, an administration in an election year is unlikely to be reelected if business and employment are in bad shape. So a little inflation, while bad, is good politics.

The present administration had nothing to do with the advance in security prices. Supply and demand regulate prices. All in all, the Economy is as interesting to watch these days as the course of unpredictable hurricanes.

The Mary and Joe Doaks, who supply the dough to run the government, watch wages go up, security prices on the up and up — credit easy going, spending, no let up. And, when we finish paying Uncle Samuel his cut, we're in hock — same as our Uncle.

Inflation is bad; deflation is, too. So the country is in a political merry-go-round, listening to Reuther and Adlai Stevenson. And, should we put our faith in Harriman, we will go back to our gardens and woodpiles.

However, these forces have stimulated productive enterprise and have upped prices and wages to new highs.

Is inflation to be feared? The question seems reasonable, and it resolves itself to one's choice.

What's yours, neighbor?

Clergyman to Use $32,000 to Assist Parish, NAACP

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Rev. Alvin Kershaw, Episcopal church rector and jazz expert, has taken his $32,000 winnings and passed up a chance for the grand prize on "The $64,000 Question," CBS radio and television show.

He says he will use the money —after income taxes—to support settlement of displaced persons in his parish. He also will make a contribution to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

THE 36-YEAR-OLD clergyman announced on the program last night that he would keep the $32,000, rather than risk losing it in a try for more, because it was a "resource and opportunity to support many movements in our world—movements laboring and struggling for brotherhood."

The Rev. Mr. Kershaw gave further details of his plans for use of the money in talking with newsmen after the show. "It would have been a tragedy if it ended in an anti-climax," he said.

If he had tried for the $64,000 and missed, he would have gotten an expensive automobile as a consolation prize.

The Rev. Mr. Kershaw, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Oxford, Ohio, won the $32,000 in three steps answering questions in his chosen category of jazz.

MIRACULOUS MAKE-OVER — Joseph F. Sherman is a strip mine operator of New Bethlehem, Pa. His motto is "Take care of the land and it will take care of you." He is greatly interested in what can be done to reclaim worthless farm land and land scarred by strip mining. He knew of a beautiful valley near his home. It consisted of five farms, some so valueless they had been abandoned. Former pasture land was untended brush and weeds. Five years ago he bought the first farm of 160 acres and moved in some of his giant earth-moving equipment. He cleared the field, bulldozed the tree stumps and spread tons of lime and fertilizer. He now has 1000 acres on which he raises a herd of 200 purebred Aberdeen-Angus cattle for the beef market. The rich, pastoral scene he looks at above, through the picture window of the rambling ranch house he built, is the result of Sherman's unprecedented one-man reclamation project. Tethered on the lawn is Eileenmere Son of 1064, a prize bull. Cattle frequently roam over the lawn, so Sherman doesn't need a lawn mower.

Prized Gardiner Tree Transported To Island Estate

Lielnors Fruit Farm near Gardiner ended a five year search for a large cut leaf weeping white birch tree which was eventually planted on the Old Mill Estate at East Hampton, L. I., on Oct. 26.

Frank Lielnors was at first reluctant to part with the tree but when he was told that it would be moved near the Old Wind Mill at East Hampton he consented to part with the tree.

After unproductive visits to Long Island Nurseries and most other nurseries in the East, Stanley Mesavage of the North Eastern Forestry Service of Hawley, Pa., was asked to help. Mr. Mesavage, a former Hudson Valley resident, recalled that many such trees were located in the Hudson Valley, which motivated him asking William C. Hall of Arboreal Associated at Harriman for help.

MR. HALL examined nearly all the cut leaf weeping white birch trees in the region without success. Many were prized by the owners, others were found to be growing on rocks or for other reasons could not be moved. The search seemed as difficult in the Hudson Valley as elsewhere.

After much preparation the tree was ready to be hauled on October 24. A. G. Heflin of Heflin and Storms of Wyckoff, N. J., specialists in large tree moving arrived with a large tree mover and went to work with Mr. Hall and a select Arboreal Associates work crew.

Uprooting with a large mover was successful and the placement of the mover and the tree on a low bed float of heavy construction owned by J. Averill Mangin Company of Monroe ended the task at Gardiner. Mr. Mangin in personal charge of the tree started on his trip to East Hampton.

BECAUSE of its size, the earth ball protruded far beyond both sides of the big float trailer and high in the air. Special highway permits were obtained from both the states of New York and New Jersey and a special route with no low bridges was planned in advance and approved. Also because this region is now a Gypsy Moth area, Martin Flayter of Cornwall, a horticultural inspector of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets, had to inspect the tree and soil to be sure that Gypsy Moth or other serious local pests would not be accidentally introduced elsewhere.

Wednesday, Oct. 26, everyone met at the Old Wind Mill in East Hampton and there the tree was planted in a large hole that had been prepared in advance by the Charles Frankenbach and Sons Nursery of South Hampton.

Frank Flynn, gardener at the Old Wind Mill Estate is now in charge of the tree and is planning to see that its every need is attended.

60 Escape From Fire

Meadville, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Fire broke out early today in the 80-room Lafayette Hotel in the heart of the busineses district. Sixty guests fled the burning structure. At 7:30 a. m., five hours after the blaze was discovered, it was still raging and had spread to two adjoining stores. "As far as I know everyone got out safely," said David Agnew, the hotel manager. Five of the guests were trapped on the fourth floor but firemen managed to get them out safely with the aid of wall and aerial ladders.

TIPPING THE MAID

"The other evening, I had a heated discussion with a friend on the subject of tipping. The question concerned the propriety of tipping the maid in a friend's house when invited there to dinner. My friend said it was considered an 'international' custom to tip the waitress for the additional work involved. I said that it was improper to do this and, in fact, might be indirectly considered an insult to one's hostess in regard to her not paying an adequate wage. My suggestion was to send a little gift (not necessarily personal) the next time you are invited to dinner. I would appreciate hearing from you on this much discussed problem."

In different degrees you are both wrong. It is never expected of a guest to tip anyone whatsoever after merely dining or lunching in some one's house. It is an obligation to tip all who have waited on you when you take leave after being a house-guest for overnight or longer.

How to Place Fork

Dear Mrs. Post: When the main course of a meal has been eaten, it was always my understanding that the knife and fork were laid side by side on the plate with the prongs of the fork pointing up. My husband always leaves the fork with the prongs down. He says that he was taught to do this at boarding school and that it means you have finished eating. Which is correct?

Answer: In this country, the fork is usually laid down with prongs up. There are, however, countries abroad in which it is customary to put the monogram (or crest) on the back of forks, and then they are placed with prongs down. But whenever fork and knife or any two implements are placed close together, this means you have finished eating—whether prongs are up or down.

MRS. STANLEY F. MELNIK

(Photo Workshop)

DeCicco-Melnik Nuptials Are Held

Miss Teresa Joan DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 498 Delaware avenue, became the bride of Stanley Francis Melnik, son of Mrs. Michael Melnik of 48 East Pierpont street, Sunday, Oct. 30, at St. Mary's Church at 2 p. m. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Martin Kelly sang, "Panis Angelicus" and the "Ave Maria."

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and the pews marked with white bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of rose point lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a "V" neckline with a pleated tulle inset. Her bouffant skirt was floor length and terminated in a chapel train composed of lace ruffles and pleated nylon tulle. She wore a crown of tulle leaves and pearlized orange blossoms which secured her three quarter length French illusion veil.

Mrs. Laura Gallo was matron of honor for her sister and she wore a gown of cobalt blue velveteen, Grecian style, with a molded long torso, "V" neckline and a full floor length skirt. She wore a band of sculptured silver leaves in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary DiMicco of 47 Derrenbacher street, sister of the bride, and Miss Berenice Baker, 22 Second avenue. They wore identical autumn rose gowns styled like the matron of honor's.

The bride carried a white lace covered prayer book trimmed with gardenias and stephanotis and white satin ribbon showers. Her bridal party carried cascades of rose and white fuji mums and gold ribbon.

Miss Nancy Arace, niece of the bride, of 146 Smith avenue, and Miss Carol Melnik, the bridegroom's niece, of 34 Hanratty street, were the flower girls. They wore gowns of white crystallette, in Kate Greenaway fashion, with tiny puffed sleeves and bouffant hooped skirts. Velveteen ribbon in cobalt blue banded the skirts and bodices, and they wore matching heart-shaped hats edged in pleated white net. The girls carried baskets of blue and white pompons.

Michael Melnik, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers included another brother, John Melnik, and a brother-in-law of the bride's, Louis DiMicco.

A reception was held at the Barn for approximately 225 guests.

Miss DeCicco attended Kingston High School and is employed by Sprague Electric Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by J & A Roofing Company. He also served two years with the U. S. Army.

For her wedding journey through northern New York and Canada, the bride chose a charcoal suit with black and yellow accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will reside at 498 Delaware avenue.

MRS. STANLEY F. MELNIK
(Photo Workshop)

DeCicco-Melnik Nuptials Are Held

Miss Teresa Joan DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 498 Delaware avenue, became the bride of Stanley Francis Melnik, son of Mrs. Michael Melnik of 48 East Pierpont street, Sunday, Oct. 30, at St. Mary's Church at 2 p. m. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Martin Kelly sang, "Panis Angelicus" and the "Ave Maria."

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and the pews marked with white bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of rose point lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a "V" neckline with a pleated tulle inset. Her bouffant skirt was floor length and terminated in a chapel train composed of lace ruffles and pleated nylon tulle. She wore a crown of tulle leaves and pearlized orange blossoms which secured her three quarter length French illusion veil.

Mrs. Laura Gallo was matron of honor for her sister and she wore a gown of cobalt blue velveteen, Grecian style, with a molded long torso, "V" neckline and a full floor length skirt. She wore a band of sculptured silver leaves in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary DiMicco of 47 Derrenbacher street, sister of the bride, and Miss Berenice Baker, 22 Second avenue. They wore identical autumn rose gowns styled like the matron of honor's.

The bride carried a white lace covered prayer book trimmed with gardenias and stephanotis and white satin ribbon showers. Her bridal party carried cascades of rose and white fuji mums and gold ribbon.

Miss Nancy Arace, niece of the bride, of 146 Smith avenue, and Miss Carol Melnik, the bridegroom's niece, of 34 Hanratty street, were the flower girls. They wore gowns of white crystallette, in Kate Greenaway fashion, with tiny puffed sleeves and bouffant hooped skirts. Velveteen ribbon in cobalt blue banded the skirts and bodices, and they wore matching heart-shaped hats edged in pleated white net. The girls carried baskets of blue and white pompons.

Michael Melnik, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers included another brother, John Melnik, and a brother-in-law of the bride's, Louis DiMicco.

A reception was held at the Barn for approximately 225 guests.

Miss DeCicco attended Kingston High School and is employed by Sprague Electric Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by J & A Roofing Company. He also served two years with the U. S. Army.

For her wedding journey through northern New York and Canada, the bride chose a charcoal suit with black and yellow accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will reside at 498 Delaware avenue.

TO PLAY AT AHAVATH BALL—Buddy Morrow, whose orchestra is currently featured on many hit-selling Mercury records, has been engaged for the 19th annual stage show and ball of Congregation Ahavath Israel at municipal auditorium Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 23, Benjamin Schecter, chairman and Herman G. Rafalowsky, co-chairman, announced today. The Morrow orchestra features the vocals of lovely Dorothy Kae and Jeffrey Lowell. The band has been booked through the General Artists Corporation.

Ahavath Israel Signs Famous Recording Band for Thanksgiving Eve Show, Ball

Buddy Morrow's famous Mercury recording orchestra, featuring the vocals of Dorothy Kae and Jeffrey Lowell, has been signed to play for dancing at the 19th annual stage show and ball of Congregation Ahavath Israel on Wednesday, Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 23, at municipal auditorium.

"The signing of the Morrow orchestra is just the first bit of good news we have for our patrons," Benjamin Schecter, chairman and Herman G. Rafalowsky, co-chairman, told The Freeman today.

"Two big names in the television field have been signed for our big holiday eve program but we won't announce them until after the Legion ball," the chairman and co-chairman said. "However," they added, "you can tell your friends they're real big names and will help to make this year's ball one of the greatest."

The art of bringing top-flight stars to Kingston has been an annual custom for the Ahavath Israel ball committees and each year the feeling is that those in charge of the ball surpass their previous records by securing even better performers.

In the past committees headed by Mr. Rafalowsky, who began the successful Ahavath Israel ball programs 19 years ago, have presented such outstanding names as Vincent Lopez, Bunny Berigan, Xavier Cugat and his orchestra, Joey Adams, Benny Youngman, Morey Amsterdam, Al Bernie, Jan Murray and a host of others.

With the signing of the popular Buddy Morrow orchestra for the Nov. 23 ball this year, it is very apparent Mr. Schecter and Mr. Rafalowsky are again moulding a terrific show for their many patrons.

Starting off in the musical world at the young age of 13 when he played for junior and senior high school dances in his home town of New Haven, Conn., Buddy Morrow has since appeared with Paul Whiteman, the late Eddie Duchin, Artie Shaw, Vincent Lopez, Tommy Dorsey and Jimmy Dorsey.

Signing an RCA Victor recording contract in 1950, Buddy changed his style to a strictly accented ensemble dance beat as a background for his trombone.

Morrow's records, helping his road to stardom, included Train, Train, Train; I Don't Know, Greyhound, Got You on My Mind, Dragnet and Night Train.

Buddy Morrow has set up a code of clean, listenable, danceable rhythms which is proving very popular with customers and critics alike. As Buddy puts it, "Do not try to educate the public from the bandstand, instead play the type of music that they want to hear."

'The Happy Time' Stars Jimmy Burns

Jimmy Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Burns, Jr., of 143 Main street, a seventh grade student at Myron J. Michael School, appears tonight and tomorrow with the Coach House Players as Bibi in "The Happy Time," at the George Washington School.

This typically busy 12-year-old has managed very well in keeping up the pace of rehearsals for the three-act family comedy in which most of the action centers around him.

Luckily the Little League baseball season ended as play rehearsals began leaving only the banquet for which to budget time. Homework and Sunday school activities kept their rightful place in his very full schedule, but he had to forego Scout Troop No. 12 Drum Corps and a duck hunting trip with his grandfather and 10-year-old brother, David. The boys had saved money for hunting boots, so missing the trip wasn't easy, but perhaps Jimmy has absorbed enough "footlight fever" to make him decide to study theatre or related arts later so he can qualify for the annual scholarship the Coach House Players offer.

Another young guest player appearing with Jimmy is Mary Swezy, an eighth grade student at Highland Central School, who was seen in last year's Coach House presentation "The Great Big Doorstep." Jimmy's theatrical parents are Terry Roberts, well known music instructor in local elementary schools who appears as Mama Bonnard, and Paul Whitten as Papa. Both Miss Roberts and Mr. Whitten will be remembered from past performances with the Players, as will Fran Matteson, Scott Foster, Barbara LaTorre, Norman Shapiro, Duke Steeley and Ed Guziak. Newcomers to the group who complete the cast of "The Happy Time" are Sara Mulligan and George Dahl.

The play is so packed with gay hilarious lines the cast has had a never ending happy time in rehearsal, finding particularly amusing the figures of speech which are routine to French-Canadians but seem to most of us highly colorful idioms. For instance, "I am unbuttoned!" (I am found out or discovered) or "This is another pair of shoes" (well, that's different).

Curtain time for both performances is 8:30 and both associate memberships and single tickets will be available at the door.

TO SPONSOR HALLOWEEN DANCE—The Junior Married Women's Club will hold a Halloween dance, Nov. 5, at Spindler's in Rosendale. Committee members are (l-r) seated, Mrs. Edward Gardner, president; Mrs. Donald Rion, chairman of entertainment; Mrs. Kendall Vogt, committee member; rear, (l-r) Mrs. Russell Boice and Mrs. Kenneth Blundell. Music for the dance will be furnished by Cliff, Gene and Ray and costumes are optional. Tickets may be obtained from committee members or at the door. (Freeman photo)

Miss Sharon Dietz Wins Sewing Contest

Tillson, Nov. 2—Sharon Dietz, Springtown road, New Paltz, has won the Singer Sewing Machine Junior Dressmaking contest in competition with contestants from 60 other sewing centers within the Rochester agency. This was announced today by the Kingston Singer Sewing Machine Company through G. A. Ryerson, local manager.

Miss Dietz, who is 13 years of age, entered the contest, which ran from May 2, 1955 to September 3, 1955, completing her winning dress during class instruction at the Kingston Singer Sewing Center on Fair street. This was in accordance with rules of the contest. For her efforts, Miss Dietz will be awarded the Regional prize of a slant needle position machine, valued over $200.

In addition, Miss Dietz will enter her winning entry in the grand contest and have a chance to win a scholarship award, which would be applied toward a course in Home Economics in an accredited college. A scholarship award would have to be used within one year upon the winner's graduation from high school, and not to exceed four years from the date of the award. According to the terms by the company, a scholarship would be paid in full upon receipt of a report from the school that the winner had completed the first quarter or semester of the home economics course, and had enrolled for the second quarter or semester.

Miss Dietz first won the local contest, then competed with about 500 others to win the Regional contest, Mr. Ryerson said. The contest for the juniors was opened to girls from 10 to 13 years old.

On 'Wanted' List

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The FBI today put John Allen Kendrick of Washington, D. C., described as a hoodlum with a 30-year criminal record, on its list of "10 most wanted men." Kendrick is currently under indictment here for a shooting affray in December of last year in which one man was seriously wounded.

garage and bathhouse of the estate on two occasions several days before the shooting.

Mrs. Woodward had told police that evidence of these breakins caused her and her husband to arm themselves with shotguns before going to bed early last Sunday morning. An hour or so later, the statement to police continued, she fired at what she thought was the prowler on a return visit. Instead she hit and killed her husband.

AFTER QUESTIONING Wirths for hours, Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau county detectives, said he was convinced the 22-year-old German refugee was "not on the Woodward property" at the time of the shooting. Pinnell said Wirths at that time was raiding a golf course snack bar at a nearby country club.

While Nassau authorities continued their investigation, Mrs. Woodward remained in Doctors Hospital in New York city. She was taken there in what her doctor called a state of deep shock and under sedatives for hysteria on the day of the shooting.

Although her doctor's reports have indicated steady improvement in her condition, he said yesterday he would forbid the striking blonde widow to leave her bed to attend her husband's funeral in New York city.

Steel Needs Up

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—The steel industry, already struggling desperately to meet demand, now finds that automobile and appliance manufacturers are upping their steel requirements considerably, the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

YEAR'S "BEST"—Mrs. Ezra Taft Benson, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture and mother of six children, is 1955's "Homemaker of the Year." Accepting the award in Washington, D.C., from National Home Fashions League, Inc., she said mothers and homemakers have an "important obligation and sacred trust."

Health for Peace

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower says "a world mentally and physically healthy will be a peaceful world." The President made that statement in a message to the third annual symposium on antibiotics which he sent Secretary of Welfare Folsom for today's opening session. Scientists from some 15 foreign nations are taking part in the meeting to exchange latest information on antibiotics—drugs derived from living organisms such as molds. The conference is sponsored by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

Committee to Plan Hill Concert Series

Woodstock, Nov. 2—A committee is in the process of being formed which will arrange for, and prepare the Harmony Hill Concert Series, next summer, under the direction of H. A. Schimmerling who last summer directed and sponsored eight successful recitals. Heard in last summer's series were new works of contemporary composers and other interesting and rarely heard musical compositions.

The new 1956 concert series will present a recital every week instead of every other week. Great artists of the opera and concert stage will participate. Again, unusual and seldom performed works will be presented to the public. Further details will be announced as soon as they are available.

Mr. Schimmerling has announced that he is again in search of talent—singers, male or female, preferably not older than 25, who are interested in professional careers for opera, concert, radio, TV, etc. Those interested may communicate with Mr. Schimmerling in Woodstock. Singers with good vocal and musical qualities have a chance to win a full or half scholarship at the Chatham Square School in New York. This school, for professional musicians, in which Mr. Schimmerling directs the Music Theory and the Opera Department, is under the outstanding leadership of Samuel Chotzinoff, musical director of the National Broadcasting Corporation.

He will be glad to hear from anyone in the area who is interested in applying for a scholarship.

To Give Third Sermon

Woodstock, Nov. 2—At the Reformed Church of Woodstock the Rev. Harvey I. Todd will continue with the third of the series of sermons on the early chapters of Genesis next Sunday, Nov. 6, at 11 a. m. The subject of his sermon will be "Man, the Broken Image." The regular monthly meeting of the Lydian Society will be held in the basement Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2 p. m. The monthly meeting of the Sunday school of the Dutch Reformed Church was held at the home of Mrs. Bud Blazy, Thursday, Oct. 27.

Benefit Card Party

Woodstock, Nov. 2—Ladies of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church will give a benefit card party Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville. The party will start a 8 p. m. Guests are requested to bring their own cards or preferred games. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Harvey A. Ellis is general chairman and Mrs. Fennell Franckling is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Different Halloween

Woodstock, Nov. 2—The Boy Scouts of Troop 34 and Cub Pack 34 were in touch with far distant places during the meeting held Halloween evening. A group of amateur radio "hams" from IBM brought some elaborate equipment and demonstrated the use of it to the boys. Just as much fun and more than ducking for apples or soaping up windows, they reported.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 7—Richard Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Park of Broadview road, celebrated his seventh birthday, Saturday, Oct. 29, with a Halloween costume party at his home. Committee to Plan Hill Concert Series

Woodstock, Nov. 2—A committee is in the process of being formed which will arrange for, and prepare the Harmony Hill Concert Series, next summer, under the direction of H. A. Schimmerling who last summer directed and sponsored eight successful recitals. Heard in last summer's series were new works of contemporary composers and other interesting and rarely heard musical compositions.

The new 1956 concert series will present a recital every week instead of every other week. Great artists of the opera and concert stage will participate. Again, unusual and seldom performed works will be presented to the public. Further details will be announced as soon as they are available.

Mr. Schimmerling has announced that he is again in search of talent—singers, male or female, preferably not older than 25, who are interested in professional careers for opera, concert, radio, TV, etc. Those interested may communicate with Mr. Schimmerling in Woodstock. Singers with good vocal and musical qualities have a chance to win a full or half scholarship at the Chatham Square School in New York. This school, for professional musicians, in which Mr. Schimmerling directs the Music Theory and the Opera Department, is under the outstanding leadership of Samuel Chotzinoff, musical director of the National Broadcasting Corporation.

He will be glad to hear from anyone in the area who is interested in applying for a scholarship.

Four Games Slated; Keyser Set to Play

Seeking its fourth victory, Kingston High School's football team entertains a speedy, unbeaten Lawrence High eleven from Long Island at Dietz Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The Lawrence game is the last stop on the KHS schedule before the two momentous DUSO League meetings with Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. The Maroons, therefore, have a trio of toughies remaining.

Four other games are on the weekend docket. Port Jervis travels to East Stroudsburg, Pa., on Friday night. Saturday's tilts are Newburgh at Beacon, New Paltz at Saugerties and Wappingers Falls vs. Highland at New Paltz. Poughkeepsie and Middletown are idle.

TO DATE, Kingston has won three and lost two. Lawrence is the Long Island Triple-A League champion and has taken five straight victories.

The Long Islanders have retained most of the team which whipped Kingston 39-6 a year ago.

Lawrence attacks from a tight T most of the time, varying with a shift to a box formation. The shift threw Kingston off guard a number of times last year.

Possessing a speedy set of backs, the visitors use a number of end runs and reverses. The Lawrence line is big from tackle to tackle but only average size at the end positions.

Kingston coach Bill Burke said he planned to use the same lineup that started against Mont Pleasant. He added, however, that Bob Smith may be used to spell right half Jim Jackson, who dislocated his fingers against Mont Pleasant.

THE MAROONS will be strengthened by the return of Neil Keyser, their regular fullback and top defensive player. Keyser, injured before the second game, was feared lost for the season with a leg injury. But he has a doctor's OK to play, and has returned to practice.

Keyser may have a tough time getting his job back as offensive fullback, for Larry Johnson has become a steady ground gainer.

The big boy will be welcomed back as a linebacker, however, for Kingston has been wanting at these positions. Pete Blanschan has been doing the job virtually unaided.

Burke also voiced hope that Alo Saluste, who cracked a wrist bone before the Middletown game, will return. The left guard, an All-DUSO selection in 1954, was scheduled for an examination this week. If everything's all right, Saluste may be ready for the Poughkeepsie game a week from Saturday.

While conceding that Lawrence had an imposing team and record, Burke declared that the game would be close. "Don't forget," he said, "we've been beaten at home only once in four years, and that was by one point." The KHS mentor was referring to the 19-18 loss inflicted by Curtis here last fall.

Kickoff time is 2 o'clock.

NEWBURGH, winless to date, is in for a rough afternoon against Beacon. Beacon has lost two, but both were to pigskin powerhouses—Poughkeepsie and Peekskill.

The Goldbacks will bank their hopes on a line that's as big as Beacon's and the running of Charles "Zeke" McCurry. Beacon has an excellent quartet of runners but lacks a good passing game. The BHS line is big and smart.

Saugerties, heading for a successful campaign under Bill Straub in the school's second year of 11-man football, appears a good bet to beat New Paltz.

The Sawyers have won five games and lost two. New Paltz has a 1-2 record. Against a common foe, Onteora, Saugerties won by 24-13, while New Paltz lost by 41-24.

SAUGERTIES will match its split T, with Murray Craft in the key quarterback position, against the New Paltz single wing.

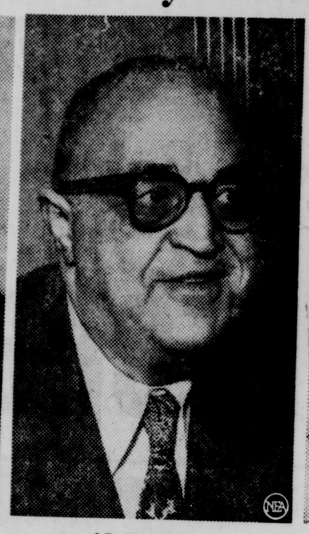
The Highland-Wappingers game shapes up as a close battle. Highland will be seeking its fourth win against two defeats. Wappingers has won three, lost two and tied one.

Wappingers' latest victory was a 13-0 decision over Arlington, a team which thumped Highland 27-7. The Arlington game, however, was Highland's worst performance. It was one of the Falls team's best.

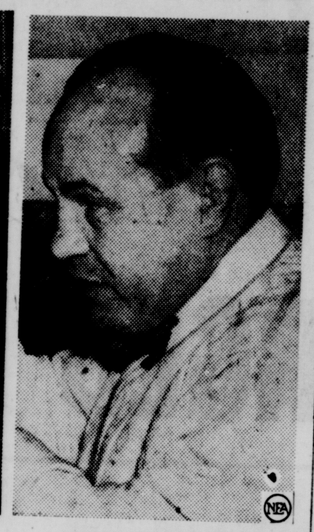
Both teams have big forward walls, with Wappingers having an especially good defensive alignment. Highland's attack relies mainly on the running and passing of John Gersch. Wappingers features a pair of sawed-off, powerized halfbacks, Jack Sidote and John Scianna.

Markson, Weill, Goldman Slated To Speak at Kelly Dinner Nov. 17

HARRY MARKSON



AL WEILL



CHARLIE GOLDMAN

Three of professional boxing's most prominent personalities have accepted invitations to attend the Joe Kelly testimonial dinner sponsored by the Elks Club on Thursday, Nov. 17.

The three are Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club; Al Weill, manager, and Charlie Goldman, trainer, of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

The trio was selected by the Elks committee headed by Francis J. McCardle to emphasize the sports theme of the testimonial, with emphasis on boxing, the sport Kelly was most closely identified with during his long career as sports editor of The Daily Freeman.

Aside from James D. Norris, the IBC president, Markson, a native of Kingston, is perhaps boxing's next best known executive. He is a member of the prominent Markson journalistic family that includes Nathan G. Markson, of the Albany Times Union and Sam Markson, former city editor of the Times Union.

A GRADUATE of Union College, Markson worked as a sports writer for the Bronx Home News. He made such a favorable impression on the late Mike Jacobs, one-time czar of boxing, that Uncle Mike hired him as a press agent for the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, which then controlled the professional boxing industry.

When Norris's International Boxing Club succeeded Jacobs, Markson was retained and then promoted to an executive post. He has held various titles with the IBC, the latest and most prominent being that of managing director.

Weill and Goldman are lifelong friends of Kelly. Goldman visited Kingston a few weeks ago and was featured in an interview in The Freeman editorial office where he renewed acquaintances with Kelly.

WEILL, ONE of the most controversial figures in the game, has done a superb job of guiding the one-time crude Brockton Blockbuster to the heavyweight crown.

Before that Weill was well known to Kingston fans as the handler of amateur boxers. Two of his local favorites Lou Ambers (Otis Paradise) and Marty Servo (Baby Face Severino) captured world boxing crowns.

Tickets for the testimonial have been on sale at the Elks Club for several days. Chairman McCardle is expected to issue a statement on the ticket situation in the next few days.

County Cage League Proposed

A meeting to organize an Ulster county village basketball league will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at the High Falls firehouse.

Village teams from Woodstock, New Paltz, Port Ewen, Ulster Park, Rosendale, Saugerties, Accord and Kerhonkson are invited.

All persons interested are invited to attend.

Tab Warriors Flag Choice

Minneapolis, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors, also-rans in the National Basketball Association for years but now toughened by rookie Tom Gola, were picked as the 1955-56 champions today by league sportswriters. The season opens Saturday.

The Warriors shaded defending champion Syracuse by one vote in the annual pre-season poll conducted by the Minneapolis Star.

The writers not only chose Philadelphia to replace Syracuse as champs, but tabbed Gola, the LaSalle All-America, as the Rookie of the Year and nominated the Warriors' Neil Johnston to win a fourth straight scoring championship.

Philadelphia finished last in the league's Eastern division last season despite the heavy scoring of Johnston and Paul Arizin.

Moore-Pompey Title Contest Set for Jan. 10

Archie Moore, biding his time for rematch with Rocky Marciano, will defend his light heavyweight crown against Yolande Pompey of Trinidad at Earl's Court, London, on Jan. 10, it was announced yesterday.

Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager, and Jack Solomons, British promoter announced the match after a long conference with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club and Moore.

TERMS WERE not revealed but it was understood Moore will receive the usual champion's share, at least 40 per cent, and the challenger will get about 20 per cent. It was indicated that Archie also will get a flat guarantee.

Pompey fought in the United States without success, despite a brilliant early record. In his lone U. S. fight, he was beaten by Moses Ward at Chicago, July 21, 1954. He currently is ranked fourth among Moore's contenders.

SPORTS by Charles J. Tiano

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is making its second annual appeal for support of the U. S. Olympic Fund.

This is one of the most worthwhile projects on the American sports scene and as such we are happy to endorse it. The JCC deserves credit for taking the initiative in this fund raising drive.

The 7th Winter Olympic Games are to be held from Jan. 26 through Feb. 5th of next year in Cortina deAmpezzo, Italy, while the 16th Olympiad is to be held in Melbourne, Australia, from Nov. 22 through Dec. 8, 1956. As in the past the U. S. Olympic Committee will receive no government financial support and must depend entirely on the interest and appreciation of sports-loving individuals.

The cost of U. S. participation in the 1956 Olympic will be approximately one million dollars. A $200,000 increase over 1952 participation due mostly to the enlarged travel expense to distant Australia.

Incidentally, among the various activities to be carried on by the JCC's local Olympic Committee is a very interesting and entertaining "Curtain at 8:40," which is presenting David Niven and Margaret Leighton in "Court Martial" to be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the Community Theatre.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mort Gazlay is spearheading the movement to organize the county village basketball league. The former KHS football and basketball star has also been one of the most enthusiastic boosters of the G. Warren Kias testimonial. . . . Members of the Trail Sweepers Ski Club of Kingston limbered up their vocal skis a few nights ago at the annual open house party at Lawton Park. The meeting is a yearly get together for skiers from all over the mid-Hudson area. Plans for the forthcoming season were discussed amid optimistic predictions the sport would achieve new heights of popularity in the area this 1955-56 winter season. . . . President Don Donohue welcomed the members and guests who later watched two colored films on ski technique. . . . A gal going downhill in a hurry, Eleanor Singer: 202-143-116. . . . Up and down guy, B. Wilkins: 143-211-135.

The sad decline of amateur boxing, once a lively sports in the county, is reflected in a letter just received from Kenny Barr, the promising young Accord boxer.

"I hope to box frequently in the Open division this year," he writes. "I have already started training with a few local boxing enthusiasts in an unheated garage on Brewster street.

"Boxing has become popular among high school boys the past few years and a number of them have indicated they would like to take up the sport.

"Fred Davi was very nice about permitting the use of the Glasco Athletic Club, but the facilities were inadequate and long travelling distance from Kingston and other points in the county was also a factor in discouraging some of the boys."

Barr singled out former All-DUSO footballer Gene Massa and Skip Brodhead as two young men in his age group who have great pugilistic potential.

"I was wondering if Kingston could sponsor a Golden Gloves team to compete in the Adirondack AAU tournament in Albany," Barr asks. "We need a small gym with a ring to train in. I'm sure there are enough former boxers in Kingston to help us along. Do you know of any group, organization or persons I might contact in order to make this a reality and establish a boxing club?"

Barr asked for a personal reply. The answer is this. We'll give the young men interested in boxing all the support we can. Now, how about somebody coming forth with an offer of training space and a ring.

As in the past the U. S. Olym Committee will receive no government financial support and mu depend entirely on the interest and appreciation of sports-lovi individuals.

The cost of U. S. participation in the 1956 Olympic will be approximately one million dollars. A $200,000 increase over 1952 participation due mostly to the enlarged travel expense to distant Australia.

Incidentally, among the various activities to be carried on by the JCC's local Olympic Committee is a very interesting and entertaining "Curtain at 8:40," which is presenting David Niven and Margaret Leighton in "Court Martial" to be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the Community Theatre.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mort Gazlay is spearheading the movement to organize th county village basketball league. The former KHS football an basketball star has also been one of the most enthusiastic booste of the G. Warren Kias testimonial. . . . Members of the Tra Sweepers Ski Club of Kingston limbered up their vocal skis a fe nights ago at the annual open house party at Lawton Park. Th meeting is a yearly get together for skiers from all over the mid Hudson area. Plans for the forthcoming season were discusse amid optimistic predictions the sport would achieve new height of popularity in the area this 1955-56 winter season. . . . Presiden Don Donohue welcomed the members and guests who later watche two colored films on ski technique. . . . A gal going downhill i a hurry, Eleanor Singer: 202-143-116. . . . Up and down guy, B Wilkins: 143-211-135.

The sad decline of amateur boxing, once a lively sports in the county, is reflected in a letter just received from Kenny Barr, the promising young Accord boxer.

"I hope to box frequently in the Open division this year," he writes. "I have already started training with a few local boxing enthusiasts in an unheated garage on Brewster street.

"Boxing has become popular among high school boys the past few years and a number of them have indicated they would like to take up the sport.

"Fred Davi was very nice about permitting the use of the Glasco Athletic Club, but the facilities were inadequate and long travelling distance from Kingston and other points in the county was also a factor in discouraging some of the boys."

Barr singled out former All-DUSO footballer Gene Massa and Skip Brodhead as two young men in his age group who have great pugilistic potential.

"I was wondering if Kingston could sponsor a Golden Gloves team to compete in the Adirondack AAU tournament in Albany," Barr asks. "We need a small gym with a ring to train in. I'm sure there are enough former boxers in Kingston to help us along. Do you know of any group, organization or persons I might contact in order to make this a reality and establish a boxing club?"

Barr asked for a personal reply. The answer is this. We'll give the young men interested in boxing all the support we can. Now, how about somebody coming forth with an offer of training space and a ring.

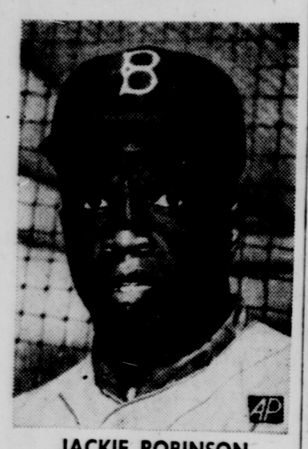
Jackie Robinson Reported Next Vancouver Pilot



JACKIE ROBINSON

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Add another rumor to the winter baseball guess game: Jackie Robinson will call it quits with the Brooklyn Dodgers and take a job as manager of Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League.

A Vancouver newspaper, The Province, published the report as "a possibility" yesterday.

Robinson thought "any right proposition" along that line would be fine. But as yet he's heard nothing from the Vancouver club itself.

BRICK LAWS, the club owner who moved his PCL franchise from Oakland to Vancouver last September, wasn't available for comment, but his wife thought "he certainly will be glad to know" Robinson's getting the job.

Jackie, who hasn't yet signed a contract for 1956 with Brooklyn's world champions, told The Associated Press from his home in Stamford, Conn., that "as far as I know right now, I'll be playing with the Dodgers again next year."

The 36-year-old veteran, first Negro to break into organized ball, insisted he had heard nothing from Laws himself, but explained that would be "tampering,' anyway. "They'd have to contact the Dodgers first."

The Province quoted Robinson as saying in a telephone interview he is "certainly interested in listening to such an offer."

Joe Staccio compiled 27 points for Ruby. Double wins for Lincoln Park were scored by Bud Rappleyea-John Carpenter and Cliff Nichols-Bill Scatzel.

Kentucky Back Best of Week Off Rice Heroics

(By The Associated Press)

Quarterback Bob Hardy, the Duke of Paducah who kept Kentucky's Wildcats purring against Rice last weekend with a clutch performance that set up the winning touchdown, today was named the Associated Press Back of the Week.

Numerous backs contributed outstanding individual performances in college football last Saturday, but none could outshine Hardy, who twice steered the 'Cats from behind in the 20-16 victory.

WITH A LITTLE more than 6 minutes left and Rice ahead 16-13, the 6-1, 194-pound Kentucky co-captain guided the Cats 66 yards in nine plays, scoring the winning TD himself off a 12-yard run and then kicking the extra point.

Hardy, a senior, carried the ball six times in the final push, including an 18-yard pass completion on a fourth-down-and-10 situation. The pass put the ball on the Rice 24 and after two plays carried to the 12, Hardy circled left end on a keeper to score standing up.

It was his second TD of the game (in which he scored 14 points) and climaxed a splendid one-man show. Hardy completed 10 of 17 passes for 125 yards and rushed for 35 yards on 11 carries. He completed three passes in the first touchdown drive and played 56 minutes, seven seconds.

Ryff-DeMarco TV Bout Tonight

Baltimore, Nov. 2 (AP)—Two lightweights with a reputation for roughness, Paddy De Marco and Frankie Ryff, will cuff each other tonight (10 p. m., EST) in a scheduled 10-round fight at the Coliseum and on a television network (ABC).

The winner undoubtedly will make a pitch for a shot at the 135-pound title held by Wallace (Bud) Smith. DeMarco held the title eight months last year. Manager Charles Black of Ryff said he is "ready now" for the championship try.

Ryff generally is viewed as a fancy boxer, but after Ryff beat him, Orlando Zulueta said he was "the roughest and dirtiest fighter I ever met—even worse than Paddy De Marco."

DE MARCO, a bowlegged billygoat with frequent butting, always has been a picture of roughhouse. He delights in getting in close and swinging anywhere and everywhere with everything.

Ryff hasn't knocked out anybody in 19 bouts over five years, but he's ranked No. 4. His only loss was a split decision to Ralph Dupas whom he had beaten previously in New York.

De Marco will provide plenty of ring savvy for the 23-year-old Ryff. The 27-year-old has had 87 fights in 10 years, losing 14 and drawing two.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

"I've heard all kinds of things," said Al. "A breeder here says three months—a vet there says 10 weeks — somewhere I read that four months was safer. I don't have any way of knowing who's right about when to vaccinate a dog."

Al's dilemma wasn't surprising. Not only because of the diverse opinions expressed, but because research has been coming up with some different answers.

MORE HAS BEEN learned about immunology in the last five years than in all those preceding. True, we had Jenner's effective way of immunizing against smallpox by infecting with the related cowpox, but the real reasons why and refined methods to build up artificial immunities successfully and safely have been made available to dog breeders only in comparatively recent years.

Progress has been so rapid, in fact, that material published only a year ago in media available to the layman is now superseded by later findings of better methods. The man who was advised to follow a certain course with a litter of pups two years ago will be given quite different advice by the same veterinarian today.

LET'S REVIEW briefly the most modern accepted method for establishing protection for a dog with some brief reasons why.

Today we believe that whatever immunity a bitch has established is passed on to the pups through the milk. Whether or not a pup becomes the victim of a disease depends upon the level of this resistance, the virulence of any exposure and the general well-being of the pup.

AS SOON AS a pup leaves the mother, there is a rapid drop in immunity. It is advisable, therefore, to give pups the advantage of distemper-infectious hepatitis serum immediately weaning is started.

We now know, moreover, that a healthy pup can be successfully vaccinated against distemper with avianized (chick embyro adapted) vaccine at this time. Serum should be given at the same time.

Killed infectious hepatitis and killed leptospirosis vaccines can be subsequently given at two-week intervals if the pup remains bright and frisky.

Perry Bounces Back to Second In NFL Running

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—Joe (Jet) Perry rumbled from sixth to second place in the National Football League ground gaining competition but the defending champion from San Francisco has a long way to plow if he expects to catch the flying Alan Ameche of Baltimore.

The latest NFL statistics show Ameche, the rookie from Wisconsin with 635 yards gained in 116 carries for an average of 5.5 yards per carry. Perry, who gained 149 yards Sunday for the Forty-Niners, has totaled 466 on 84 attempts for an identical 5.5 norm. Howard Ferguson, Green Bay, second a week ago, fell to third with a total 444 yards and a 4.7 average.

OTTO GRAHAM, Cleveland's brilliant quarterback, dropped slightly in his passing average as the Browns whipped the Cardinals, but he still holds a good lead in the aerial department over his closest rival, Y. A. Tittle, San Francisco. Graham has completed 46 of 84 tosses for 780 yards, four TDs and a 9.63 yard average per pass. Tittle has average 8.30 yards on 68 of 134 for 1,112 yards and eight TDs. Bobby Thomason of Philadelphia is third wtih an 8.13 average, 48 completed of 91 thrown, 740 yards gained and five touchdowns.

Billy Wilson of San Francisco continues to lead pass receivers with 29 caught for 493 yards; Vic Janowicz is the leading scorer for the fourth straight week with 49 points—5 TDs, 13 conversions and 2 field goals; Norm Van Brocklin tops the punters on a 455.1 average; Leon Riley of Detroit with a 13.5 average leads the punt return experts; Joe Arenas, San Francisco, is the active kickoff return leader with a 28.1 average, and Los Angeles' Willard Sherman, for the fourth week in a row, is the top pass interceptor with 8.

Extra Special Wins

Yonkers, Nov. 2 (AP)—Extra Special, a 4-1 shot driven by Ned Galentine, scored a half length victory in the feature Orient pace at Yonkers Raceway last night. The four-year-old horse covered the mile in 2:04.4 and returned $10.30, $6.00 and $4.70. Some Knight was second and Betsy Dale third.

Richmond Club In Difficulty With the T-Men

Richmond, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—The federal government today had a baseball club on its hands.

The federal tax collector yesterday seized the assets of the Richmond Virginians of the Class AAA International League and will sell the club at public auction to satisfy a $79,218.68 tax claim. It was believed the first time the government ever seized a baseball club for back taxes.

An unidentified group of seven members quickly indicated it plans to bid for the club's purchase. E. E. Haddock, a Richmond City councilman who acted as the group's spokesman, said the group met two weeks ago with Frank Shaughnessy, International League president.

Richmond started its International League operation in 1954 when the Baltimore franchise was moved here. The Virginians, managed by former Chicago White Sox star shortstop Luke Appling, finished the 1955 campaign in the cellar.

Indians Drop Ferris Fain

Cleveland, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today released first baseman Ferris Fain, the American League's batting champion in 1951-52.

Fain, who will be 34 in March, signed with the Tribe as a free agent last July following his release by the Detroit Tigers. He played in 113 games for Cleveland and hit .260.

A chronic knee injury has hampered Fain most of the time since he reached the batting pinnacle. He hit .344 in 1951 and .327 in 1952.

MORE WATER ACTION FOR ACTON—Auto repairman Joe Acton of Dublin, Ireland, seems to be playing it safe in his latest water contraption. Acton, who once built an outboard motorboat from a truck roof, has come up with one made from two truck fenders—and a truck tire inner tube. He hasn't revealed whether the tube is for comfort or safety, but he has disclosed other details. The "boat" rips along at nine m.p.h. and, like a lot of cars he works on, it "gets you there and back."

U. S. Training Methods Puzzle Mexico's Mariles

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Gen. Humberto Mariles, horseman extraordinary from Mexico, said today he can't understand how the United States' riders train their horses.

"I stand there and watch them," commented the Olympic champion, "and wonder why they hit the horses."

Gen. Mariles, who probably could give anyone in the world lessons on how to handle a horse, said he never takes the whip to his own mounts.

"I TRY TO teach my horses to love jumping," he said. "If they make a mistake, I bring them back to Mexico and train them some more. I also teach the other members of the Mexican team not to touch the horse going over a jump."

Gen. Mariles refused to say he thought the American team was wrong in its methods, but when asked why the Yanks resorted to this system, he answered:

"I don't know why. Maybe they want to be sure the horse gets over the hurdle."

In any case the Americans have been shut out in the first two international events of the National Horse Show which went into the second session of an eight day run in Madison Square Garden today.

Mexico won the first international test and Ireland the second. The Americans were last among the four teams in the Mexican triumph.

THE EVENT won by Ireland's Lt. P. J. Kiernan of Ballynonty, was scored on an individual basis and no Yanks were in sight.

Gen. Mariles doesn't expect to do well in the National. He was in an automobile accident two weeks ago and still is in bad shape.

"The doctors told me the only thing I can do is rest for two months," he said with a shrug. "But, of course, that is out of the question. I have to ride.

"People blame my mount, Chihuahua II, if we make a fault. But believe me, it isn't the horse's fault. It's mine. I train the horse to take jumps a certain way. Then, because of my spine injury, I may lean off the saddle and the horse is puzzled. Who's fault is it? Mine, naturally."

Cornell-Penn Game Moved to Saturday

Ithaca, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Cornell-Pennsylvania football game, usually a Thanksgiving Day feature at Philadelphia, will be played Saturday, Nov. 24, in 1956.

It hasn't been played on a Saturday since 1950.

Cornell's 1956 schedule calls for home games with Navy, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth. It will be an all-Ivy League schedule with the exception of Colgate and Navy.

He said reports were circulating that elements of the Paraguayan army were unhappy over political developments and were threatening to do something about it. Alarm was being felt in Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, the correspondent said, and the situation was expected to reach a climax soon.

Two Win Nobel Prize

Stockholm, Nov. 2 (AP)—Two U. S. scientists today jointly won the 1955 Nobel prize in physics. They are Dr. W. E. Lamb of Stanford University and Dr. P. Kusch, of Columbia University. They will split the prize money—equivalent to $36,720—for their work in correcting an error made by a Briton who previously won the Nobel prize. The correction is described by members of the awarding body—the Royal Swedish Academy of Science—as a major advance towards the understanding of what goes on inside the atom. It enabled scientists to calculate correctly the properties of some of its component parts.

MORE WATER ACTION FOR ACTON—Auto repairman Joe Acton of Dublin, Ireland, seems to be playing it safe in his latest water contraption. Acton, who once built an outboard motorboat from a truck roof, has come up with one made from two truck fenders—and a truck tire inner tube. He hasn't revealed whether the tube is for comfort or safety, but he has disclosed other details. The "boat" rips along at nine m.p.h. and, like a lot of cars he works on, it "gets you there and back."

U. S. Training Methods Puzzle Mexico's Mariles

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Gen. Humberto Mariles, horseman extraordinary from Mexico, said today he can't understand how the United States' riders train their horses.

"I stand there and watch them," commented the Olympic champion, "and wonder why they hit the horses."

Gen. Mariles, who probably could give anyone in the world lessons on how to handle a horse, said he never takes the whip to his own mounts.

"I TRY TO teach my horses to love jumping," he said. "If they make a mistake, I bring them back to Mexico and train them some more. I also teach the other members of the Mexican team not to touch the horse going over a jump."

Gen. Mariles refused to say he thought the American team was wrong in its methods, but when asked why the Yanks resorted to this system, he answered:

"I don't know why. Maybe they want to be sure the horse gets over the hurdle."

In any case the Americans have been shut out in the first two international events of the National Horse Show which went into the second session of an eight day run in Madison Square Garden today.

Mexico won the first international test and Ireland the second. The Americans were last among the four teams in the Mexican triumph.

THE EVENT won by Ireland's Lt. P. J. Kiernan of Ballynonty, was scored on an individual basis and no Yanks were in sight.

Gen. Mariles doesn't expect to do well in the National. He was in an automobile accident two weeks ago and still is in bad shape.

"The doctors told me the only thing I can do is rest for two months," he said with a shrug. "But, of course, that is out of the question. I have to ride.

"People blame my mount, Chihuahua II, if we make a fault. But believe me, it isn't the horse's fault. It's mine. I train the horse to take jumps a certain way. Then, because of my spine injury, I may lean off the saddle and the horse is puzzled. Who's fault is it? Mine, naturally."

Local Cagers Set for Game In Bridge City

Headed by Ronnie Scheffel and George Carpouzis, a Kingston basketball team will begin the cage season in Poughkeepsie Friday night, playing the Lincoln Center team.

The game is scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock in the Bridge City team's Lincoln avenue gym.

Other Kingston players include John Godwin, Billy Haber and Ward Dunham.

Cornell-Penn Game Moved to Saturday

Ithaca, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Cornell-Pennsylvania football game, usually a Thanksgiving Day feature at Philadelphia, will be played Saturday, Nov. 24, in 1956.

It hasn't been played on a Saturday since 1950.

Cornell's 1956 schedule calls for home games with Navy, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth. It will be an all-Ivy League schedule with the exception of Colgate and Navy.

Fear Paraguay Trouble

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 2 (AP)—La Nacion's correspondent at Formosa on the Paraguayan border, said today that Argentine city was full of rumors of possible trouble in Paraguay. He said reports were circulating that elements of the Paraguayan army were unhappy over political developments and were threatening to do something about it. Alarm was being felt in Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, the correspondent said, and the situation was expected to reach a climax soon.

Two Win Nobel Prize

Stockholm, Nov. 2 (AP)—Two U. S. scientists today jointly won the 1955 Nobel prize in physics. They are Dr. W. E. Lamb of Stanford University and Dr. P. Kusch, of Columbia University. They will split the prize money—equivalent to $36,720—for their work in correcting an error made by a Briton who previously won the Nobel prize. The correction is described by members of the awarding body—the Royal Swedish Academy of Science—as a major advance towards the understanding of what goes on inside the atom. It enabled scientists to calculate correctly the properties of some of its component parts.

Boy Is Injured As He Runs in Front of Auto

A seven-year-old Marlborough boy suffered painful injuries about 4:45 p. m., yesterday when he ran in front of a car on the Old Post Road in that village, it was reported by Highland state police.

He is Norman McBeth, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McBeth, 2nd, of the Old Post Road.

The child was reported in "fairly good" condtiion today at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Trooper J. J. Cullen, who investigated, said Norman suffered multiple lacerations and abrasions of both arms and legs, a possible fracture of the pelvis and the left wrist.

TROOPER Cullen said the child ran from the side of the road into the path of a 1953 sedan operated by Marion Ann Squilla, 23, of the Old Post Road. She was traveling south at a slow rate of speed at the time, it was reported. Trooper Cullen said she applied her brakes but could not avoid striking the child.

The boy, who was knocked to the road by the impact, was taken to the hospital by his father. There were no arrests.

Rosendale Flood

trol and direct the Army Corps of Engineers to move in.

THE COMMITTEE discussed various aspects of the flood problem as it affects the village and township, including the matter of "bottlenecks" created by the Thruway bridge at LeFevre Falls and by Thruway construction at other points.

THE COMMITTEE also discussed the work of the army engineers in the Ellenville area, expressing the view that work in that area had increased and quickened the flow of water in Rondout creek in the Rosendale area.

From the point of view of the army engineers clearing operations would naturally begin in the upper reaches of the creeks and rivers and then move downstream, it was pointed out. If the engineers fail to come all the way down, however, it throws up hazards in the lower reaches of the creek, it was explained.

Mr. Duffy said nothing had been done in years to clear the creek and that a number of "islands" had built up in the channel, some of them as much as an acre in area. These grow up with bushes and trees, making it all the more difficult for the creek to pass high water without backing up over the banks.

The following compose the steering committee: Edmund J. O'Reilly, president; Joseph Bianco, vice president; Fred Pflum, secretary-treasurer; Norman Kellar, legal adviser; Herbert Kimker, Joseph Reid, Ernest Rossler, Henry Mollenhauer and Mr. Duffy.

William Arthur Harrison 16, West Shokan, was indicted for burglary, third degree and unlawful entry alleged to have been committted July 28 and also grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed August 24, 1955. The burglary arose out of an alleged entrance to the Kosner home. John Gotelli appeared for defendant and asked that he be treated under the Youthful Offender statute. Judge Kelly adjudged the defendant eligible to have his case so taken care of and directed the indictment sealed.

Anson Lester Curtis and Christian Allen Shaler, Ruby, were arraigned on a charge of petit larceny under three counts, alleged to have been committed on Sept. 2, 1955. They allegedly took radiators and other equipment from road machinery in the town of Hurley and Saugerties. Since the value was determined to be less than $100 the grand jury returned the petit larceny indictment. John Gotelli appeared for the defendants and a plea of innocent was entered. Bail was continued and 20 days granted to make further motions.

On the call of the criminal calendar which contains 61 cases in addition to the reserve cases, several cases were moved over the term and others were set down for Nov. 7. Several matters will be taken up this week.

P-TA Membership Drive Is Success

Early returns indicate the October drive of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers for 600,000 new members was successful, according to Mrs. Rollin Brown, national PTA president.

Mrs. Brown said reports showed an increase in both the number of local units and in total membership.

IN HER COMMENTS on "PTA Membership Month," Mrs. Brown pointed out that it is not necessary to be a parent or a teacher to belong to PTA. "Anyone concerned with the welfare of today's youngsters is welcomed into the organization," she said.

Mrs. Brown said that about 61 per cent of the nation's homes are represented in the PTA and that one-third of the organization's members are men. More than 40,000 local PTA's are represented by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, which had reached a membership of 9,409,282 in 1954-55.

Boy Is Injured As He Runs in Front of Auto

A seven-year-old Marlborough boy suffered painful injuries about 4:45 p. m., yesterday when he ran in front of a car on the Old Post Road in that village, it was reported by Highland state police.

He is Norman McBeth, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McBeth, 2nd, of the Old Post Road.

The child was reported in "fairly good" condtiion today at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Trooper J. J. Cullen, who investigated, said Norman suffered multiple lacerations and abrasions of both arms and legs, a possible fracture of the pelvis and the left wrist.

TROOPER Cullen said the child ran from the side of the road into the path of a 1953 sedan operated by Marion Ann Squilla, 23, of the Old Post Road. She was traveling south at a slow rate of speed at the time, it was reported. Trooper Cullen said she applied her brakes but could not avoid striking the child.

The boy, who was knocked to the road by the impact, was taken to the hospital by his father. There were no arrests.

Rosendale Flood

trol and direct the Army Corps of Engineers to move in.

THE COMMITTEE discussed various aspects of the flood problem as it affects the village and township, including the matter of "bottlenecks" created by the Thruway bridge at LeFevre Falls and by Thruway construction at other points.

THE COMMITTEE also discussed the work of the army engineers in the Ellenville area, expressing the view that work in that area had increased and quickened the flow of water in Rondout creek in the Rosendale area.

From the point of view of the army engineers clearing operations would naturally begin in the upper reaches of the creeks and rivers and then move downstream, it was pointed out. If the engineers fail to come all the way down, however, it throws up hazards in the lower reaches of the creek, it was explained.

Mr. Duffy said nothing had been done in years to clear the creek and that a number of "islands" had built up in the channel, some of them as much as an acre in area. These grow up with bushes and trees, making it all the more difficult for the creek to pass high water without backing up over the banks.

The following compose the steering committee: Edmund J. O'Reilly, president; Joseph Bianco, vice president; Fred Pflum, secretary-treasurer; Norman Kellar, legal adviser; Herbert Kimker, Joseph Reid, Ernest Rossler, Henry Mollenhauer and Mr. Duffy.

William Arthur Harrison 16, West Shokan, was indicted for burglary, third degree and unlawful entry alleged to have been committted July 28 and also grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed August 24, 1955. The burglary arose out of an alleged entrance to the Kosner home. John Gotelli appeared for defendant and asked that he be treated under the Youthful Offender statute. Judge Kelly adjudged the defendant eligible to have his case so taken care of and directed the indictment sealed.

Anson Lester Curtis and Christian Allen Shaler, Ruby, were arraigned on a charge of petit larceny under three counts, alleged to have been committed on Sept. 2, 1955. They allegedly took radiators and other equipment from road machinery in the town of Hurley and Saugerties. Since the value was determined to be less than $100 the grand jury returned the petit larceny indictment. John Gotelli appeared for the defendants and a plea of innocent was entered. Bail was continued and 20 days granted to make further motions.

On the call of the criminal calendar which contains 61 cases in addition to the reserve cases, several cases were moved over the term and others were set down for Nov. 7. Several matters will be taken up this week.

P-TA Membership Drive Is Success

Early returns indicate the October drive of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers for 600,000 new members was successful, according to Mrs. Rollin Brown, national PTA president.

Mrs. Brown said reports showed an increase in both the number of local units and in total membership.

IN HER COMMENTS on "PTA Membership Month," Mrs. Brown pointed out that it is not necessary to be a parent or a teacher to belong to PTA. "Anyone concerned with the welfare of today's youngsters is welcomed into the organization," she said.

Mrs. Brown said that about 61 per cent of the nation's homes are represented in the PTA and that one-third of the organization's members are men. More than 40,000 local PTA's are represented by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, which had reached a membership of 9,409,282 in 1954-55.

Kiwanis to Give

1944 and since that time has distributed a total of $12,450 in scholarship money, most of which has come from the proceeds of past Kapers shows.

THE CLUB has assisted 24 girls and 46 boys to obtain higher education through the program. This year's awards, totaling $1,600 in value, consisted of four regular Kiwanis scholarships worth $250 each, one Morris Samter award worth $200 and four nursing training scholarships worth $100 each.

The Samter scholarship, established in 1952, was made possible through a bequest from the late Mr. Samter, a past president of the club.

KIWANIS scholarships are one-year awards only. It has been the club's experience that if the boy or girl receives the impetus to put him through the first year of training, and he is successful scholastically, the means can always be found for him to continue his education.

In addition to its major project, scholarships, the club also sponsors a team in the Fraternal Youth Baseball League, helps the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy clinic, buys chicks for 4-H Club youngsters to raise and exhibit, donates to many youth agencies and takes part in other civic activities.

October Rainfall

as autumn months go, but on an average, it was about four degrees cooler than October, 1954. It contributed the only day of frost to this fall, however, and that was on the 23rd when the mercury hit a low of 31 degrees.

The warmest day was Oct. 11 when a high of 78 was recorded. This was far below any kind of a record, and failed to equal October, 1954 which had several days of 80-degree temperatures.

At the end of September, area rainfall had been far below normal for nine months, but October's contribution brought the total to 39.56 which is about the average 10-month total.

May File Appeals

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Appellate Division, Fourth Department, has granted two men convicted in the slaying of a lumberjack extra time to file appeals. The men, John Nichol, 26, and Irvan A. Fredericks, 25, both of Scotia, were convicted of first degree manslaughter in the fatal shooting two years ago of Charles Friel, 25, of Morehouseville. Nicholl was sentenced to 10-20 years, and Fredericks to 7½-15 years. Both have been free on $15,000 bond.

Harriman Names Own Man to Job On Waterfront

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Gov. Harriman announced yesterday he would appoint John P. McGrath, who managed his campaign last fall, as New York state representative on the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor.

McGrath will succeed Lt. Gen. George P. Hays, who resigned yesterday at Harriman's request. The governor said he wanted to be represented on the bi-state body by a commissioner of his choosing. He said Hays had indicated that he concurred in this view.

Hays was appointed by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a Republican.

Harriman said in a letter to Hays that he was "mindful of the important service that you have rendered as a member of the commission."

Hays wrote in reply that he appreciated "the kind thoughts and feelings which you express."

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey expressed regret over Hays' resignation. Both Harriman and Meyner are Democrats.

Faces Sentence

Ft. Meade, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Maj. Ronald E. Alley, convicted yesterday of misconduct while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea, today faced a hearing on the extenuating circumstances which may have been involved in the case. The 34-year-old artillery officer from Bar Harbor, Me., stood calmly yesterday as the president of the army general court martial announced that he had been found guilty of giving the enemy military information, soliciting information from fellow POW's and cooperating in enemy propaganda indoctrination programs. Alley faces a possible sentence of life imprisonment.

Ford Earnings

S. Louis, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. executive says the company's estimated earnings for 1955 before taxes will "surpass the aggregate earnings of the company for the entire 21 years prior to World War 2." Board Chairman Ernest R. Breech made this statement last night in a speech before the annual Century of Commerce Dinner here honoring seven firms in business 100 years or more and 700 other in business at least 50 years. Breech also reported that Ford profits for the first nine months of this year topped those of any previous full year in the firm's 52-year history. He noted this was "before and after taxes."

ANPA Asks Dismissal

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. (ANPA) has filed a brief in Federal Court denying government allegations that it conspired to allocate newspaper advertising to a selected group of advertising agencies in violation of anti-trust laws. The ANPA denies that it or any one authorized to act for it is engaged in a conspiracy in restraint of trade, or that it intended to do so by any of its actions. The publisher group, which filed the brief yesterday, asked Judge William B. Herlands to dismiss the case.

Man Gets Life Term

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 2 (AP)—Judge John W. Ford of Common Pleas yesterday sentenced Francis Leo Horr, 36, to life in prison for first degree murder in the slaying of a bar maid. Horr was convicted early in the morning after the jury had been out 10 hours. It recommended mercy. He was charged with shooting Mrs. Rosemary Hunter, 28, after a dispute in a tavern last May 1. "I'm sorry for the whole thing," Horr told the court after sentencing. He thanked Judge Ford for a fair trial.

Medical Recklessness

Oklahoma City (AP)—Not even his doctor's orders could save a beer-tippling Oklahoma City man. Following his arrest, Hoover V. Hampton told Judge Mike Foster he'd drunk only two beers as prescribed by his physician. The judge was skeptical. He fined Hampton $20 for reckless driving by drinking.

ACCUSED OF SELLING BABIES — Mrs. Margaret M. Frederickson, 32, a Denver bartender, was arrested Oct. 31 on a charge of selling to a California couple her twin sons born last January, four weeks before her marriage to an airman. Ray Humphreys, a district attorney's investigator, said the woman received $150 for the babies. (AP Wirephoto).

IN REPORTED GOLF HOAX — Massachusetts golfers William Roberts, left, and Charles Helmar, right, were named by the New York World Telegram & Sun, Nov. 1, as participants in an alleged hoax at a $45,000 Calcutta links tournament. The newspaper said Helmar, Springfield public links champ, had admitted posing as Richard Vitali, Springfield insurance man, while teaming with Roberts, at Amherst, to win the tournament at Deepdale Golf Club, Great Neck, N. Y., last September. The story said Helmar had received an 18-stroke handicap in the belief that he was Vitali. (AP Photo).

Mishap Is . . .

was fully qualified and licensed as a flight engineer also.

THE LINE, he said, made sure that anybody assigned as a flight engineer was trained and licensed to perform flight engineer duties.

Two witnesses told of hearing an explosion before the craft struck in a field and another after it hit in near-freezing weather.

Jake Heil said he and his family "thought it was going to hit the house" on their farm. He fixed the time at 9:30 p. m., EST (7:03 p. m., MST).

And John Mc Neill, night marshal at Platteville, Colo., six miles distant, reported he saw two flares in the air, "a sort of an explosion—then a big bright light."

CHIEF Gilbert R. Carrel of the Colorado Highway Patrol and other investigators said the accounts of an explosion were being checked. None would venture a possible explanation.

Unlike the UAL crash which killed 66 persons Oct. 6 when a plane smashed into Medicine Bow peak near Laramie, Wyo., this accident happened over comparatiyely level country a few miles east of the Colorado Rockies. The Medicine Bow peak crash was the worst commercial air lines disaster in United States history from the standpoint of lives lost.

WRECKAGE and bodies were strewn for a mile over a plowed field and a pasture six miles east of Longmont. The scene was about 32 miles north of Denver's city limits and about 300 miles east of scenic Rocky Mountain National Park.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury Oct. 28: Balance, $5,374,086,968.34; deposits fiscal year July 1, $18,034,819,350.44; withdrawals fiscal year, $23,945,944,417.73; total debt, $280,114,950,358.16x; gold assets, $21,685,577,314.70; x—includes $477,756,217.30 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Faerber Plans To Run Business From New Site

Frederick G. Faerber, Jr., Saugerties, who purchased the Smith Avenue Warehouse Storage Local and Long Distance Hauling business four years ago from Maynard Mizel, who had conducted that business for 20 years, has purchased the residence property and storage warehouse of the late Harry P. Carr, 149 Clinton avenue.

The property was purchased from Arthur G. Carr, who has conducted the business since the death of his brother in 1945. The property consists of the residence which will be occupied by Mr. Faerber and his family and also several buildings which have been used for storage purposes for many years.

SMITH AVENUE Storage and Warehouse Moving company will be conducted by Mr. Faerber from this address and he expects to conduct the business on the same high level as in the past. Mr. Faerber was born in Saugerties and served two years in the U. S. Navy during World War 2. After discharge from service he was associated in the moving business with his father-in-law, Clarence B. Lasher, in Saugerties. Many improvements will be made to the Clinton avenue property. Negotiations for the purchase was handled by Lawrence J. MacAvery, local realtor, at 241 Wall street. Lloyd R. LeFever represented the seller and N. Jansen Fowler represented the buyer.

QUESTION: When Extended Coverage insurance provides for a "Fifty Dollar Deductible" in Windstorm coverage, what does it mean and does it apply to all coverages in the policy?

ANSWER: Wherever a fifty dollar deductible for Windstorm is written under Extended Coverage it means you pay the first fifty dollars of any Windstorm loss and the Company pays the rest. Probably the only other deductible coverage under that policy would be hail.
